Foreword

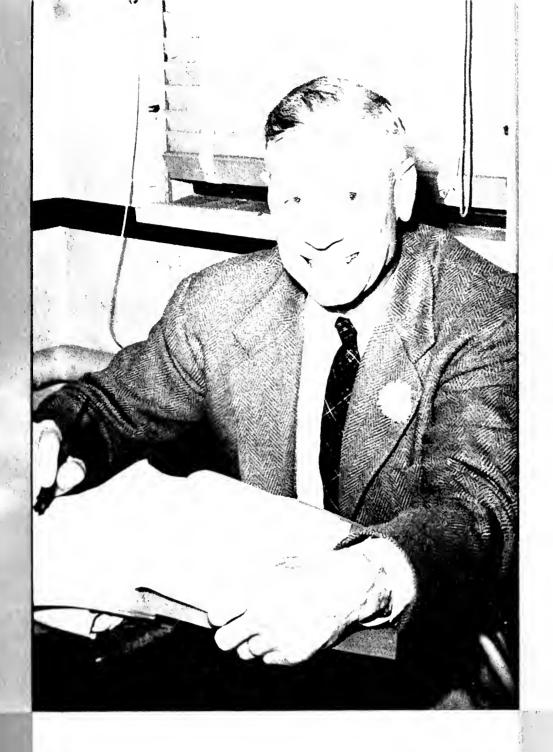

UPON WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE, AND THEN TO TAKE COGNIZANCE OF THE PRESENT, WITH AN EYE COCKED TO THE FUTURE. A YEAR BRINGS SO MANY CHANGES THAT THE LOCKED PAGES OF A PRINTER'S FORM OFTEN REFUSE TO PERMIT THEMSELVES TO BE CHANGED WITH THE FLUCTUATING PERSONNEL OF A UNIVERSITY IN WAR. FOR THIS I AM SORRY. THE 1943 SOUTHERN CAMPUS HAS ATTEMPTED TO PICTURE PERFECTLY THE STRUCTURE OF THE UNIVERSITY AND THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS. IF YOU ARE ABLE TO SEE THE TRUE PICTURE OF THE ACADEMIC, ACTIVITY, SOCIAL TRIANGLE WHICH TO US CHARACTERIZES THE FULL COLLEGE YEAR, WE SHALL HAVE SUCCEEDED IN OUR TASK.

A POMANESQUE IN TRADITION, AND LOVELY IN ADAPTATION, ROYCE HALL'S ARCHES FORM A PICTURESQUE SACKGROUND FOR CAMPUS SCENES.

Dedication

DEMING G. MACLISE

Educator, without textbook or lecture, who threw the reins to us at every opportunity and taught us how to direct the course of student government wisely.

Friend, without reservation, who gave generously of his time and energy, of his sagacity and personality.

President DR. ROBERT GORDON SPROUL The Class of 1943 of the University of California leaves its classrooms and laboratories to participate with all other citizens of this democracy in a task as grim as it is necessary. The advice that a University President customarily gives to hundreds of young people

President Sproul awaits to place the coveted crown upon the blonde head of Peggy Rich, 1942 Homecoming Queen. His message to the students was inspirational and timely. The Class of 1943 of the University of California leaves its classrooms and laboratories to participate with all other citizens of this democracy in a task as grim as it is necessary. The advice that a University President customarily gives to hundreds of young people whom he has come to know and call friends at the time of their departure from the campus is hardly necessary this year. As never before in the history of the United States all of us know what our responsibilities are. There can be no thought or any hope of planning for the normal satisfactions of living until the war has been won.
Instead all must work for the good of the country and the welfare of the world as we conceive it. The duty involved will bring blood and sweat and tears, but it will also bring an opportunity to realize more completely many of the highest aspirations and greatest dreams of the human race, nationally, internationally, and racially. Therein lies the thought which I hope all members of the Class of 1943 will keep fresh in their minds. The cause for which we fight is great enough to justify every sacrifice that it demands.

 HERMAN SPINDT . . . Manager of Bureau of Guidance and Replacement . . . President of Western Institution Teacher Placement.

MILDRED FOREMAN . . . Manager of Bureau of Occupations . . . carries title, Co-ordinator of Women's War Training.

• JOHN EDWARD GOODWIN . . . Librarian . . . In this capacity at U.C.L.A. since 1923 . . . has effected many improvements.

• AUBREY L. BERRY . . . Appointment Secretary since 1938 . . . U.C.L.A. graduate . . . responsible for teacher placement.

Administrative Officials

• GEORGE TAYLOR, Business Manager, succeeded Deming Maclise,

Thousands of students — thousands of registration books, requisitions, counselling appointments, library fines—all the things that keep the University on an even keel, financially and otherwise, are handled by an amazingly small handful of people. In their offices in the Administration building, the wheels of the University go round. Every day they handled thousands of papers and vast sums of money, with an ease and calm which amaze the casual observer. But their jobs deal with other things besides letters and figures. They help students find jobs, advise them on jobs already obtained, and decide weighty matters of admission with regard to new freshmen. It is the quiet efficiency of these Administration officials that keeps the vast business which is U.C.L.A. functioning smoothly.

HIRAM W. EDWARDS . . . Director of Relations with Schools . . . concerned with junior college, high school matriculation.

• DEMING G. MACLISE . . . late Comptroller . . . handled financial matters of the University efficiently and wisely.

HARRY SHOWMAN . . . Official Registrar . . . attends more to admissions than to actual registration . . . Academic Senate.

Graceful possessor of the following titles is Ann Sumner: Advisor for local Cal Club, Co-ordinator of combined Cal Clubs on all campuses, and Publications Editor for Extension Division News.

Red headed Cal Club Chairman, Dick Horton, headed the trek north to Davis and carried the Convention spirit back to Westwood to a year of achievement for the organization.

California Club

The Cal Club is composed of twenty students appointed by President Sproul in recognition of outstanding qualities of leadership on the Westwood campus. Our chapter is one of five similar groups operating in branches of the University of California throughout the State. November found the local group participating in the annual convention embracing representatives of all campuses, in accord with the central purpose of the organization — the inter-campus exchange of ideas and the solidification of friendly relations. One of these ideas culminated in the formation of the Deming G. Maclise Post War Scholarship. The Cal Club-sponsored essay contest aroused considerable campus interest and increased realization of the tremendous scope of the University of California. Winning essays brought lucrative rewards to their authors in the form of war bonds.

LARRY COLLINS . . . President . . . member of Kappa Sigma . . . former president of the House Manager's Association, Blue Key member and Phi Phi

Senior Officers

IVEN the difficult task of holding together a class broken by the demands of a country at war, these four officers did a creditable job. Operating under the stepped up semester plan, many of the class were able to graduate in February, including Larry Collins and Marilyn Moon. Janice Beavon was then called on to be president for the remainder of the semester. Highlighting the fall semester was the final formal—the traditional Aloha Ball, given at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel after U.C.L.A.'s first mid-year graduation. The Class of 1943 passes into the world one of the last to know pre-war college life.

DEAN WILLIAM H. CHANDLER
Professor of Horticulture . . . Horticulturist in the Experimental Station.

HE College of Agriculture of the University of California offers at Los Angeles the plant science curriculum and the major in horticulture leading to the Bachelor of Science degree. This major is not offered on the other campuses of the University. Courses in floriculture have been recently added and make possible specialization within the major in any one of three coordinate fields—sub-tropical fruits, flower crops, and ornamental plants. Graduate work is also offered which leads to the Master of Science and Doctor of Philosophy degree in horticultural science.

TUDENTS electing other majors in the plant science curriculum may spend the freshman and sophomore years at Los Angeles and then transfer to the Berkeley or Davis campus where their major work is offered.

The same is true of students electing other curricula in the College of Agriculture — animal science, agricultural economics, agricultural education, entomology, forestry, and soil science and the curriculum in agricultural engineering. Students who plan to major in landscape design are advised to transfer to Berkeley at the beginning of the sophomore year. Students who register at Los Angeles with the intention of later transferring to Berkeley or Davis to pursue other curricula or to obtain majors in the plant science program other than horticulture consult the approriate Agricultural advisors at Los Angeles.

COLLEGE OF

Applied Anto

DEAN JOHN F. BOVARD
Professor of Physical Education . . . Director of the Men's Gymnasium.

The College of Applied Arts was established on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California to meet a demand for curricula of a specialized character which have to a considerable extent technical or professional appeal, and to maintain and develop certain curricula leading to special secondary teaching credentials. The curricular offerings are broadened from time to time in keeping with the University's policy to serve the needs of the community and the state.

Majors in art and music leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts are now offered and also majors in home economics leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science.

GRETA GRAY . . . Chairman of the Home Economics Department.

LE ROY W. ALLEN . . . Chairman of the Music Department.

GEORGE J. COX . . . Chairman of the Art Department.

In addition, courses are offered in drama, leading to the Bachelor of Arts degree, and in dance, leading to the Bachelor of Science degree. For properly qualified graduate nurses, a curriculum is also offered in public health nursing, leading to the Bachelor of Science degree and the Certificate in Public Health Nursing.

Certain lower division courses are listed in the offering of the College of Applied Arts. These include pre-engineering, pre-mining, pre-nursing, pre-optometry, and pre-pharmacy. These curricula may be used as preparation for admission to the colleges of the Berkeley and San Francisco campuses.

DEAN HOWARD NOBLE

Dean of College of Business Administration

COLLEGE OF

Business Administration

Every student, upon his matriculation in the University, is assigned to an advisor who will gladly assist him in the selection and arrangement of his course of study, and to whom he may go when problems of a social or scholastic nature arise. While the student may occasionally be summoned to confer with his advisor, it is his privilege at all times to seek an interview.

Candidates for the bachelor's degree in the College of Business Administration may secure the Special Secondary Teaching Credential in Business Education by completing specified additional requirements.

Courses which constitute the curricula of the College of Business Administration are designed to give students who choose to work toward the Bachelor of Science degree a well-balanced introduction to professional careers in business. Fundamental courses are included in the requirements for the degree of Associate in Arts which should give the student the proper background for more technical offerings when the upper division is reached. The student selects a major field in which advanced work will be completed in the more specialized professional fields of accounting, banking and finance, marketing, or management and industry. With the approval of the Dean the major may be changed not later than the beginning of the senior year.

COLLEGE OF

Letters and Science

STRESSING of American culture has come about, due to a rising nationalism, and in response, the College of Letters and Science has a new curriculum dealing with Americanism. The new courses form a comprehensive background in American culture and institutions suitable for students not wishing to specialize. Sciences have received a greater impetus than ever before since the demand on that part of the college has increased with the government's need for trained men in scientific fields.

DEAN GORDON WATKINS
Economist . . . Dean of College of Letters

The College of Letters and Science has a really great purpose to fulfill in providing oportunities and facilities for a thorough training of its students. It serves as a basis of culture and preparation for specialized studies. The student selects courses in the general fundamentals of knowledge in the lower division to gain familiarity with both arts and sciences. The upper division has a more diversified curriculum, for it is here that the student can pursue his liberal education among subjects of greatest interest and use to him. With a counselor's assistance, the student decides upon his "major", so that he can begin his prerequisites related to his advanced study. With good guidance and wise selection, he will progress in his chosen field and render his aid to the world's work. The College always realizes that it is part of a University, whose broad purposes of developing admirable qualities it helps to fulfill. Through a system of electives, there is a considerable freedom of choice in other fields outside of specialization. A balance of intellectual interest and activity is the trademark of a good liberal education. The student can confer with an official advisor in his major department in his junior and senior years in order to realize his objectives more clearly. The majors are many and varied, in order to accommodate many students.

DUDLEY F. PEGRUM . . . Chairman of the Economics Department . . . production economics is one of his concerns.

Department Heads

HE largest and most inclusive college on the campus embraces many majors in many different departments. Each Department Chairman is responsible for large segments of study and research. Under their expert guidance, programs are arranged for a large portion of the University student body. Year by year, the college is maturing its ability to aid the students in their preparations for vocational undertaking. The Department heads have worked together to adjust the academic program to the world at war, providing National Service courses and adjusting courses toward the interpretation of the world about us. Many of these busy men find time to mix with the students and have given them much in the way of personal friendship and individual guidance.

Southern Campus.

John Jackson '27, executive secretary, successfully and efficiently manages the affairs of the U.C.L.A. Alumni Association. Under Jackson's direction, the alumni group has substantially increased its membership.

The U.C.L.A. Alumni Association is dedicated to serving and in some way repaying a generous Alma Mater. The first organized alumni activity on the Los Angeles campus was the beginning of a "Southern Office" as a branch of the California (Berkeley) Alumni group, serving its same purposes. U.C.L.A. had its own alumni association nine years later in 1934. It immediately began improvements by getting the support of the state legislature and the Board of Regents for the establishment of graduate work at U.C.L.A. It continued its activities by giving inspiration and encouragement to the undergraduates in emphasizing the advantages and desirability of able leadership among the students. Its activities have never been confined to the alumni. but have consistently striven to benefit the undergraduates by its help in the establishment of scholarships.

Gnads

Archibald MacLeish, Librarian of Congress, and President Sproul, greet visitors after University Charter Day program,

At the Alumni Reunion, seated around a table are Mrs. Marr, Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. Balthis, and Mrs. Houser. Behind them are their husbands, Lt. Ned Marr '27, Howard Carpenter '27, Alumni President Frank Balthis '26, Lieutenant-Governor Fred Houser '26.

A scene from the banquet at the fifteenth year reunion of the class of 1927. Lt. Ned Marr presided as Master of Ceremonies, while J. B. Avery '26, amuses guests with extemporaneous remarks.

There was quite a gay crowd at the Alumni Reunion ball at the Roosevelt Hotel.

Class History

War time President JANICE BEAVON
... moved up from the Vice-Presidency
... Member of Mortar Board ... War
Board publicity gal ... Tri-Delt.

The Class of '43 presents a four year survey of its active and pleasant life on the U.C.L.A. campus . . . Experiences range from barn dances to formal proms — from 5 minute quizzes to comprehensive exams—and from informal co-op hours to executive banquets . . . Well will we remember students and faculty who wrote many pages of our history for us . . . We haven't forgotten past officers and those ardent workers who helped make class affairs successful and whom we gratefully acknowledge and picture on the following pages . . .

As a farewell to be remembered, the council planned Senior Week and Commencement with new ideas, and sent the military men as well as the cap and gowners off with a great flourish . . . Baccalaureate was preceded by a Senior lunch with informal speeches and quips highlighting the event . . . The Senior Outing and President's Reception, Sr. Assembly, and Aloha Ball made parting sweet sorrow for us . . . An All-U-Sing found the Seniors in a specially reserved section for their class and Papich and Beavon told of things to come . . .

Janice Beavon, Warren Beck, Betty Carbee, Margaret Costello, Chas. Cramm, Doug Cormack, Bob Drew, Bill Duddleson, Max Dunn, Jane Mary Eklund, Bill Farrer, Bud Foster, Betty Friedson, Irene Galvin, Nancy Garlinghouse, Anne Gillespie, Bob Gillette, Mary Ellen Haver, Osceola Herron, Edith Huber, Deliene Jensen, Ursula Kahle, Margret Karl, Frances Kramer, Norval La Vene, Dan Lee, Mary Mathews, Mary Jo McManus, Mary Kay Paup, Barbara Perry, Phyllis Roduner, Jo Rosenfield, Aletha Smith, Mary Ellen Smith, Bob Starkey, Nancy Tyler, Liz Whitfield, Penny Williams, Anne Woehler, Larry Collins.

Gathered at the Senior Fall Frolic, held at the nearby Bel-Air Country Club, we find round-a-bouters Max Dunn, Peggy McQuilkin, Dick Woodard and Ginny Hogaboom—just back from the "Farm." Cal-Clubbers all, the frolic was a reunion after their annual inter-university trek.

The changing times brought new activities to campus and the Class of '43 was always glad to he p wherever they could . . . The War Board received active support from the seniors, who bought bonds in the guad and got behind the U.C.L.A.-S.C. drive that netted a million dollars, thereby defeating S.C. in salesmanship as well as football . . . We experienced a different kind of Homecoming without a Bonfire's blaze and no parade floats lined the streets, but students guffawed at a unique Liberty Show in Royce . . . We witnessed recovery of the long lost Victory Bell and McKay and Farrer agreed to agree about a half interest in the bell . . . Athletes of the Senior Class deserve a special award for a very successful year . . . Milt Smith, Jack Lescoulie, Ken Snelling, Herb Wiener, Art Spielman, Al Sparlis, and Jack Finlay deserve mention among the football great . . . while John Fryer was a big name in basketball and Warren Beck captained the Crew . . . Wallace, Massman, exhibited skill in the shell . . . Ramos and Feldman played good soccer games ... and Schwab captained the Tennis men . . . Charlie Cramm, Jo Rosenfield, Liz Whitfield, Betty Carbee, Bill Schallert recall jobs well done for Senior Week . . .

LARRY COLLINS . . . one of the many Kappa Sigs . . . smooth Senior Class Prexy . . . held the class in harness 'til February . . . left with the mass exodus of the E.R.C. . . . popular and well-liked for all of four years.

Back to Bel-Air...here we see the dancing crowd...Reese Frederickson, Alpha Phi, in the foreground...the Class of '43 amassed a more sizeable fortune on the Senior Frolic than on its muchly remembered Promenade a season previous.

Oun Finat Daze

While very young and full of new impressions, among which was losing the brawl to the Sophs, a gay Leap Year dance and a stag party were big events of that year . . . At the Freshmen Assembly, Fred Koebig and Lucretia Tenney introduced us all to our first political experience . . . Our class showed a predominence of candidates for first-vice . . . Many began Kerckhoff careers at this time among whom were: Peg Lawhead, Spencer Williams, Jane Smithwick, Bob Thomas, Leslie Swabacher . . . all active throughout their college life . . . We weren't lacking in beauty either and proved it by having a freshman queen in our midst in the person of Barbara Hull . . . another winner of honors in beauty was Anne Brown who was freshman attendant to the crew queen of 1940 . . . we were an all-around class with representatives in nearly all branches of campus life . . .

Our initiation into finals was strenuous but we managed to keep our heads above the blue books and came through weaker but wiser . . . Experiences of Men's Week, All-U-

FRESHMEN OFFICERS . . . Prexy Bob Hine became one of the Beta clan, ruling arrogantly with V-P Betty Stacy and Secretary Pat Scott (who were first non-orgs, then Spurs, then Alpha Chis) while Max Dunn of Phi Kap fame, served as minority leader and treasurer on the Beverly Council.

Party boy and B-footballer Max Dunn has played bridge consistently in Council meetings since his freshman year, when as Treasurer he found little to do. Phi Kap, Max was always a good man to know in the spring. Navy man and Cal Club member.

Sings and sports brought us together with upper classmen and we wondered if we'd ever get there ourselves . . . incidentally, frosh men grew beards for Men's Week along with the best of them . . . Spring vacation took on a new meaning when the scene shifted to Balboa where the Frosh saw how the other half relaxed . . . Back on campus in sports we were a hard fighting bunch of kids . . . in Frosh Track we went through the season with four wins, three losses . . . smooth-stroking Frosh tennis team had but one setback for the season . . . the class of '43 boasted the strongest Freshman crew that the university has seen in four years . . . And so life began in 1940 . . .

Nimble-fingered, nimble witted, Phi Delt Hugh Geyer was with the class from the start. A politician of sorts (like most Phi Delts) he never ran for an office and so managed to keep his friends 'til graduation. Gravy: Cal Club and Presidential appointee to the War Board.

Cliff Dancer, Beta, went out in front during his freshman year only to be nosed out by Red Daggett for Soph prexy. Sat quietly by for a while, then in quick succession hung his pin on Alpha Chi Ruth Elwood and succeeded Bob Hine as War Board Chairman (all in 1942).

Even if we didn't win the Brawl, we did have an athlete in the form of Johnny Johnson who was captain of the Frosh football team ... The drama and U.D.S. received some great talent when Mary Welch became a participant of U.C.L.A. productions . . . in work and in play we had our fun . . . like when prexy Bob Hine was hiding in a car from Soph pursuers and rumor had it that somebody finally stole car, Bob, and all . . . those rowdy Sophs! . . . We were precocious youngsters and our ingenious minds went to work and gave us the new tradition of Frosh Wednesday with green hair ribbons and cocky dinks to be worn . . . This was the year we learned how a "Babe gets a bearskin" . . . when we Voted most likely to succeed by his class at Beverly, Phil Hutchins of the Delta Shelta, was nominated by politician Farrer for freshman class president. Seen most frequently in the vicinity of the Administration Building where he is executive secretary of Interfraternity Affairs.

Mary Jo McManus, "a member of all four class councils" and therefore an old-timer, has undoubtedly more campaigns to her credit than any other politician in the class. Ardent Alpha Chi, she is at her best in rough and tumble council meetings or caucus gettogethers.

beat Cal...we learned too, about the experiences of going up north and rooting with our team ... our young hearts were broken when we missed the Rose Bowl by two yards ...

REDMOND DAGGETT... Became Soph president after a tough battle with Cliff Dancer...ardent Phi Delt...Military man...chose a social council to help him over the rough spots...much liked...popular and pleasant...never bothered much with politics after soph year.

JANE MARY EKLUND...A.W.S. President...Hershey Hall-ite...one of those good "Spurs" of '43...Key and Scroll...Mortar Board... really earned and deserved all her honors...Cal Club changed her... will probably enter one of the Women's Corps in June.

Soph-istrication

Repeat performance of the brawl—we lost again . . . the Frosh-Soph barn dance was a rugged affair with hay rides and country surroundings . . . blue jeans and straw hats were the fashion when the Sophs and Frosh collaborated . . . recollecting on the atmosphere of the dance—it was really corny . . . those little rocking horses caused a slight sensation and drew more attention than the loud plaid shirts . . . Council member Marjorie Henshaw appeared on Life's Magazine's cover—her laughter was a highlight of our council meetings . . . Exchange council dinners were all part of the whirl that semester . . . We Sophs went into politics in a big way . . . we practically ran the Election board and our class helped to promote the $2 all-campus Southern Campus ("plug") . . . Osceola Herron reared her little head at this time and Betty Carbee and Anne Gillespie tussled for the vice-presidency of the A.W.S.... Gretchen Burns was another active gal . . . We went on record as the most active Spur and Yeoman class with Pat Darby as prexy of Spurs, while Rudy Massman led the Yeoman with Bob Parr, Dan Lee, and Bill Taylor as outstanding members . . . Spurs and Yeoman had exchange dinner . . . Hugh Geyer and Dick Horton were honored by being selected for Cal Club . . . Red Daggett, Mary Ann Hayes, Eleanor Thomas were all names in the Bruin News . . . Upholders of tradition were we, when we guarded the big "C" on the hill while it still showed blue and gold colors . . . Oh, yes . . . we thought of everything . . . Our Spurs helped to put the concert series on the Map and after untiring work and promoting the programs the season's totals showed three sell-outs . . . Betty Tomberlin, Nancy Tyler, Betty Vellom, and Margret Karl were some of the efficient workers . . . We really finished what we started and in grand style, too . . .

Here we see Billy Farrer and Jo Anne Hollister and Redmond Daggett and Eleanor Thomas . . . Billy became President of the Student Body and Jo Anne inherited the Vice-Presidency . . . Tommy enhanced Spur and Soph Council Meetings . . . and Soph President Red . . . became President of the Phi Delts . . . boys and girls who did.

We were gaining all the polish that wa needed by attending the big dances and being seen doing all the right things . . . We took part in Homecoming activities and helped with the bonfire and parade . . . Barbara Gastil was Soph attendant . . . We found that Monday nite life was just as gay as that on week-ends . . . Glen Miller saw us thronging to the Jr. Prom and we were already getting ideas for our show when we went to see the Jubilee ... Pan-Hel and Interfraternity dances all drew Soph classmen . . . With George Hallberg leading the Sophs in vells we rooted hard and long at all the games . . . Warren Beck was Soph manager for football. and Bob Parr was in Jayvee boat of the crew, and those men of last year who had been in Frosh sport went on to greater glory . . . And we became the Sophisticates of 1941 . . .

MILLIE PARTRIDGE...A.W.S. Vice-President...really pitched in and helped the class out on any and every occasion...Alpha Delta Pimember...her smiling face familiar at all Council meetings...wears Dick Frery's pin.

PAT DARBY...a girl with a real following in every class...as Vice-President she combined all the assets which she had accumulated from working in a multitude of circles all over campus...easy to know...a valuable friend...never forgets a face...tops...a Kappa.

BETTY VELLOM...started promoting the class from the very start... taking an active interest in early political activities...a member of the L.A. high crowd...made Spurs, Key and Scroll and Mortar Board... usually working hard or studying.

On the far right BILL FARRER again...this time in the top spot...and BOB PARR became treasurer...with ANNE BROWN (now Taylor) and OSCEOLA HERRON to fill Secretary and Vice-President spots, respectively...It was a giddy year...the class grew up.

OSCEOLA HERRON...Phi Beta Kappa...O.C.B. chairman...real spark in the class of '43...energetic worker...nothing ever failed that she undertook...unforgettable giggle...wears her Theta and JIMMY CRUTCHFIELD'S K.A. pins proudly.

BILL FARRER...his spirit was so much the same as the Spirit of '43 that it is small wonder that it was he who held the Presidential job in his junior year and took over the A.S.U.C. spot during his senior year ...politically minded...friendly...a Figi...can't be held down.

MARGRET KARL...advocate of a thirty-six hour day...Assistant Junior Prom Chairman...wanted to dance in the library...put out a fancy program for the momentous week-end...thinks our junior year was the best ever . . . stuck around to edit the BOOK.

John Doz, fr.

In great U.C.L.A. style, the Junior Prom with Top Hat and formal trimmings was our big project of the year . . . well publicized by fancy advertising which included Jr. Council members wearing Tuxes to an All-U-Sing . . . a couple in formal attire rode across the stage on a cycle as a special stunt . . . Bud Foster was chairman of Arrangements for the Prom . . . Hal Snyder was responsible for letting us hear the sweet trumpet of Harry James . . . with greater flourish, he waved his magic wand and presto—we had 2 other bands at the Sing: Sterling Young and Eddie Aguilapromoter unique was Hal . . . Our class entered a symbolical float as publicity in the Homecoming parade which was to lead the way proudly, but somehow got lost in the crowd and came in last—witnesses claim that the Greek theater hill was too steep for a "Top Hat" . . . All other classes proclaimed our Jubilee and when that gala week-end was over—we all went to bed and slept for a week in order to regain our strength for future activities . . . Free ice cream and cokes drew a big crowd to the class picnic at the Coliseum before the Oregon game . . . we gratefully remember Gordy Hewson's help in tickets for the Jr. picnic . . . those "rowdy" Delts waterbagged the council while they were having their pictures taken, which only added to the general confusion . . .

The pie-eating contest, held annually, found stiff competition, but Farrer had the capacity and energy to be proclaimed the "winnah" ... R.C.B. had a successful charity Ball ...

BEVERLY KRAEMER...one of the sweetest girls in the class...Chairman of the most successful HOUSEPARTIES...peppy and enthusiastic...livened up Council and Prom Committee meetings...lived at the Delta Gamma House... until she left school to be married.

Lollipops were distributed at a Sing and the Seniors grabbed all of those thrown into the audience . . . Sensation at another Sing was Dick Harris singing, "Minnie the Moocher" with Mary Ann Betts and Jack Milliken joining in . . . This was talent personified . . .

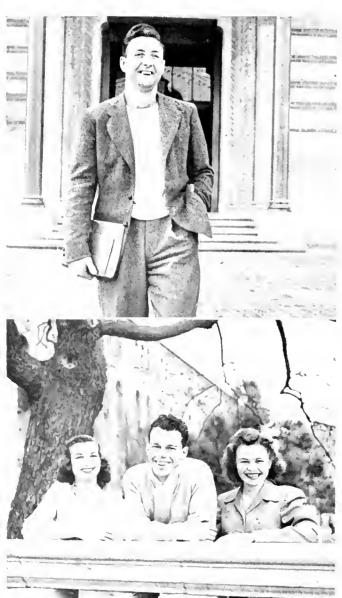

PEGGY McCONVILLE... Social Chairman... of you know what... Key and Scroll President... Gamma Phi Beta... wears Nick Angeles' Phi Gamma Delta pin... sweet and charming... home econ major... kept busy by her house when elected President.

AMEN!

What could be more fitting a gift for the graduating Seniors than a Rose Bowl game ... Our Frosh hopes were fulfilled, and S.C. was humbled before our eyes, and we can always look back with pride on our final year . . . Senior Council meetings were led by Larry Collins, who took over when student-elected Bob Parr left for West Point near the beginning of the semester . . . under Larry's guidance, council meetings were real party times and main business was conducted in fraternity cellars . . . Turkey Trot days were over when the clever Seniors called their November dance the Fall Frolic Informal . . . held at the Bel-Air Country Club—dancing was to the Interfraternity President, Baseball Captain, Phi Gamma Delta NICK ANGELES figured prominently in the Class of '43 from his freshman year on. Donning Senior dignity the campus community bids Aloha to February graduates, and left behind classmates, who still claim '43 as their numeral, ascend to a category once adorning "fifth year men" and PG's only. To soft music and rustling formals the class met, briefly glimpsing each other on the crowded floor of the ornate Beverly Wilshire's most ornate ballroom.

Marked by the attendance of alumni in uniform, the Aloha Ball found Ensign George Bush, '42 Delta Chi, who escorted Senior Secretary and Alpha Gam Ursula Kahle, and others enjoying the senior party.

Unique in the history of the University, this February graduation and senior festivity occasioned by the war saw many prominent office holders pass into the Alumni ranks. Pat Darby, popular Vice-President, Marilyn Moon, Senior Secretary, and others who took advantage of the "speed-up" program bid adieu to Westwood at the ball.

Graduation itself was held in Royce Hall, a preliminary to the regular exercises scheduled for June 9. Throughout the spring semester, the Class Council met to plan for another Aloha, watching the class diminish as one reserve after another drew from its ranks. Plans under the direction of peppy president Jan Beavon were unequalled for newness in ideas. The approval of a Student speaker by Dr. Sproul being one of the most progressive additions to the graduation program.

As each class says farewell to the campus it has loved and served so well, another chapter is ended in the volume of student history and a class moves forward to meet the world beyond.

Barn Dance

The social program of the year would not be complete without the traditional Frosh-Soph Barn Dance. This year to conform with the new social regulations set down by the Student Council the dance had to be given on campus in the Women's Gym. So after the S.C. basketball game coeds and stags donned their best Dogpatch attire and proceeded to stage the annual hop of hayseed and hicks. The dancing consisted of everything from Ocean Park jive to square dances with Muzzy Marcelino and his boys rounding off the rough edges with some solid sending. Although the usual contests were not held a very entertaining burlesque show was given downstairs which escaped the notice of many but couldn't escape the notice of a few. Bill

Class Gift

The class of 1943 has undertaken a momentous project. For four years the members of this class have been faced with the lack of adequate housing facilities on this campus. With this in mind the present Senior Class is presenting to the University tentative plans for the erection of an International House on this Campus. As the name implies, this place of residence is for all creeds, colors, and nationalities, many of which at present are prohibited from residing near the University by the stringent land laws of this community.

One of the several proposed plans calls for a decentralization arrangement. Small buildings grouped around one large central building. Taken in its entirety the International House is to provide living facilities for 300

First mid-year graduation, February, 1943, is held in Josiah Royce Hall, as departing Seniors stand to sing the University Hymn.

The Senior Class in this way may make a substantial, long living contribution to the University; alleviate the housing shortage and provide living quarters for students and teachers now banned from living in this community.

Deans

DMINISTRATIVE representatives on many students committees, the Dean of Women and Dean of Undergraduates have become symbols of helpful guidance to students with problems of housing, scholarship, student government, and a multitude of other individual concerns which are common to students living in a university community. Both our Deans are Bruin veterans, who root lustily for "our side" and have contributed inestimably to the shaping of the men and women who have gone forth true to the Blue and Gold and proud of their U.C.L.A. alma mater.

DEAN MILLER

Wise in the ways of collegians, eighteen years of informal conferring with students puzzled by the nuisances of campus life have sharpened Dean of Undergraduates EARL J. MILLER'S clear-cut perspective of the Bruin scene, deepened his tolerance, enhanced his already rich stock of humor.

AR-TIME President Bill Farrer spent a full year molding student government into a pattern which was suited to a world at war. Called upon constantly to fill positions left vacant by students entering the service, Farrer's replacements proved themselves capable and willing to serve in any capacity. Bill will probably be best remembered for the negotiations which were made prior to the big S.C. game which resulted in the return of the long-lost Victory Bell to U.C.L.A. and the setting up of a perpetual trophy between the two schools. During his year, the "travelling" president managed to carry Bruin spirit to several northern campuses and east to Northwestern University. Bill started 1943 right by entertaining local high school student body prexies on the 50 yard line in Pasadena, New Year's Day.

Wholeheartedly behind U.C.L.A. in her victorious Rose Bowl Year, Bill Farrer accepts the football awarded to lucky Captain Cunningham, former A.S.U.C. president, now R.O.T.C. instructor, prior to the Georgia game. The ball was awarded at the S.C. game following a successful bond drive.

Traditionally the beginning of a new and the ending of an old administration, is the Student Body President's Convention (this year held at Sun Valley). Here we see Farrer with former president, Bob Alshuler, at Sun Valley last spring.

JO-ANNE HOLLISTER... Gamma Phi Beta... took over the Vice-Presidency in February. Jo-Anne, a past Spur and former secretary of the Class of '43, smiled her way into the Kerckhoff political grind and brightened Student Council meetings, with her fine sense of humor and sunny disposition.

FRIENDLIER campus and more widespread social program was offered to the students under the guidance of Pat Darby, activity minded Vice-President for the first semester, and Jo-Anne Hollister, socially conscious A.S.U.C.L.A. hostess from February on. Both girls bent their efforts in molding a social program for the university that was in keeping with the war and Bruin spirit. Co-ordination of all A.S.U.C. activities with the activities of other smaller campus groups was the aim of both vice presidents. Working through the machinery of the Student Council, both girls attempted to balance sequences of events which would make the greatest amount of recreation available to the greatest number of students. Popular and well-known on campus, Pat and Jo-Anne made a combination of vice-presidents that would be hard to beat on any campus.

Fludent Council

FFICIALLY the legislative and administrative organ of the A.S.U.C.L.A., the Student Executive Council is also in theory the vocal, functioning expression of something far less matter-of-fact than mere parliamentary process. To a University renowned as one of the most democratic in the United States, this body stands for the collective, concrete representation of the wishes and sentiments of every Bruin student who votes during Spring elections. This nerve-center of student-government, like every other legislative group, is often played upon by outside pressures—the lobbyists for special campus causes—and, too, is sometimes disturbed by conflicts within itself, as it comprises varying activities and interests, but its strength exists in the ability to boil these dissenting fragments of policy down to one consistent, organic whole that is still adequately representative of the student-body at large.

Democracy is the business of the Council each Wednesday afternoon as these thirteen undergraduates, aided in their deliberations by voting members from the administration,

Dean Earl J. Miller and John Jackson, and by William C. Ackerman, ex-officio, gather for active—and often heated—session in the Memorial Room, heart and storm-center of Kerckhoff Hall. During these war years the maintenance of self-government in student hands is the supreme concern of any Council. Student government is on trial to prove its efficacy and justice.

This year saw a Council constantly in a state of flux as wartime demands for collegiate manpower brought a turnover in personnel unknown in the annals of Kerckhoff history, but despite its fluctuating membership, it managed to turn out a solid year's docket of work. Liberals plugged doggedly for a thorough-going revision of the A.S.U.C. constitution to create fewer appointive and more elective positions, it revised the A.W.S. constitution, suggested the first midwinter graduation ceremony in the history of the University and turned its guns on the simplifying of campus social affairs in a well-outlined program which cut pretentiousness to the bone and eased the strain on a war-shrunk A.S.U.C. budget.

Supreme arbiter of extra-curricular activities, Organizations Control Board is the administrative dynamo which keeps the wheels of social, honorary, and executive groups turning easily and with a minimum of friction. Traditionally a "watchdog" for the A.S.U.C.L.A., O.C.B. this year, headed by Chairman Osceola Herron, expanded its classic functions of recognizing and chartering organizations, seeing that unrecognized bodies refrain from using the name and facilities of the University, coordinating all social affairs with the A.S.U.C. calendar, providing student-tutoring, maintaining a file of extra-curricular activities, checking grade averages of activity people, and approving Bruin drives. Adapting its machinery to the tenor of war, the home of the white data cards initiated a student car-file to alleviate the stress of gas rationing and now intercepts and forwards mail for meteorology students.

As a medium for learning to meet and work with people, to face the constant challenges and situations of practical professional or business life, no better mode of training exists on campus than the multiple A.S.-U.C.L.A. organizations for which ambitious Bruins sign up at the beginning of each semester, in which they learn social grace and political acuity, and which make Gothic, tumultuous Kerckhoff Hall what it has grown to be, the citadel of activities.

In their inner sanctum confabs, often sparked by brimstone of hot debate and healthy argument, Board members map out the means of maintaining the superior standards of the two campus organs, proven by hard fact as ranking with the highest in the nation, and schedule promotions on the paper and yearbook upon the suggestions of the two editorial boards and subject to Council revision.

Alvira McCarthy, Asst. Organization

JEAN SJOGREN . . . Academic Book Editor . . . set a new record by finishing her section during the fall semester. Identified over 800 seniors with personal captions, a mammoth job.

GLORIA FARQUAR . . . Student Government Book Editor . . . handled one of the most difficult assignments due to the consolidation of what has formerly consisted of some half-dozen books.

Senior positions on the editorial staff required a co-ordination of energies which was achieved admirably by this year's staff. Top administrators Dorothy Shafer, Bessie Ferina and Helen Hailey worked close to a reduced number of book editors, who assumed complete responsibility for their respective sections. Noteworthy was the work done by Bob Starkey as sports editor, during a year marked by one change and uncertain condition after another.

Alvira McCarthy moved into the focus this year to prove to be the staff member who worked most diligently in more capacities than any other. Eight-hour Sundays her specialty. Bessie Ferina's staff was the best in at least four years of Organizations Staffs; being twice as much aware of the working of the book, although about half as large.

Newcomers Barbara Sheriff, Sieglinde Henrich, Barbara Ryan, Bill Meyer and Anita Chester are only a few of the outstanding group of Freshmen who aided materially in putting out this year's book.

CARMEN ENGEBRETSON... Office manager and staff co-ordinator... Worked hard and was responsible in many ways for the success of weekly staff meetings and in handling routine requisitions and extensive mailing, indulged in by both managerial and editorial staffs. Wears Kappa Sigma pin belonging to former Associate Manager Bob Farmer.

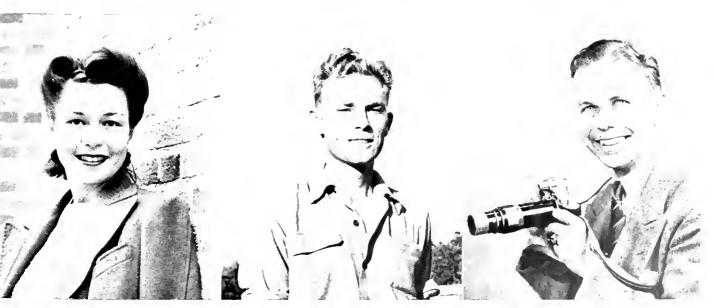

BEA STEFFY... Editorial Assistant... responsible for all type heads in the book and for the opening section... Always on hand to help out with necessary copy. A Southern Campus veteran who can remember four volumes ago, Bea was able to lend a helping hand to new freshmen. Wears a Kappa Delta pin beside her wings.

JO-ANNE HOLLISTER . . . University Life Book Editor . . . covered all the social activities of the university . . . Was appointed to succeed Pat Darby as Vice-President of the student body during the Spring semester. Gamma Phi.

BOB STARKEY . . . Sports Editor . . . met all deadlines . . . proved a valuable asset by knowing more about type faces than anyone else on the book . . . Theta Xi president . . . Editor of the Fraternity Front, 1942-43.

THELNER HOOVER ... Bruin Photography Head ... Prized photographer of the book, Thelner Hoover's skill was only equalled by his enthusiasm ... A really indispensable staff member.

Managerial Staffa

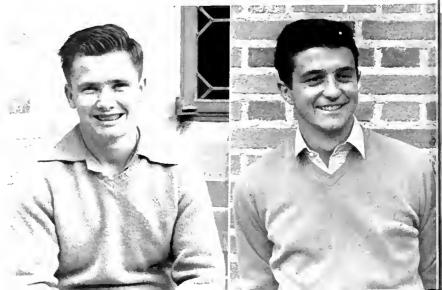

ELVIN BERCHTOLD . . . Organizations Manager . . . rose to the position of assistant Manager in February . . . possesses the counterpart to the Fleming wit . . . first man to sell organizations two pages! SAE.

MARY MARGARET BROOKS . . . Senior Reservations Manager's job started in August . . . Provided most noteworthy publicity program in many a year of Cap and Gown campaigns . . . Tri-Delt.

PAT TALLEY ... Berchtold's aid ... or more formally Assistant Organizations Manager . . . can take pride in the success of the two page plan. Pi Beta Phi.

CHUCK BAILEY . . . Freshman successor to Christianson . . . handled his job handsomely . . . a Navy man . . . Beta Theta Pi.

GLEN CHRISTIANSON... imaginative Advertising Manager... started the ball rolling on Southern Campus ads...left with the E.R.C. mass exit.

Daily Bruin

Presses do roar on this scenic campus where a student-managed and edited California Daily Bruin each day catches in black and white the current of student thought, striving to achieve the ideals of truth, accuracy, fairness, in the presentation of news, free from restraint by faculty or administration. An outpost of liberalism since its typographical launching on this campus back in 1929, the 'Bruin' goes beyond factual accounting of day-by-day events from Hilgard to Gayley. Those who man its staff view it as a vital medium for the academic, social, cultural, and economic development and progress of the student body and the whole University community. Their threefold aim is first, the dissemination of news especially pertinent to Bruin students, second, the advancement of the interests of the A.S.U.C. and the University, and third, the stimulation of the A.S.U.C. and the University to recognition of other than campus activities.

BOB WILCOX . . . 1942-43 Sports Editor . . . Served on the Men's Athletic Board . . . Ably assisted by Milt Willner . . . Member of Alpha Sigma Phi.

Editors

All the clatter of a downtown newspaper office, the tympany of typewriters, the shrill clangor of insistent telephones, reporters shouting for lastminute story copy, desk-editors counting heads, the electric tension of people intent upon their work, plus the easy informality, the fraternal give and take of a collegiate chronicle give the Daily Bruin its fame as the noisest, most Bohemian, most comfortable of all Kerckhoff partitions.

Editorial Staffs

Journalism comes in different flavors in Kerckhoff Hall 212 where wheels within wheels grind away behind the brownwood partitions separating one staff from the other. Tyros who take their dirt-digging straight wear out shoe leather and typewriter ribbons on the news staff; lusty, pipe-smoking collegians pound the Underwoods in the sports staff sanctum; while coeds with a flair for fashion and social coverage find their newspaper niche on the women's page.

Before her fall departure, MARY WORDEN was appreciated as a veteran adsolicitor.

Little girl with a New York accent, SHIRLEY LEAF ranked as National Advertising head.

Efficient, personable RUTH BRETSFELDER managed the National Advertising in the summer.

Theta Chi BOB BEDWELL kept active as Circulation Manager prior to his E.R.C. jaunt.

ANNE BRETSFELDER stayed near the telephone afternoons as queen of the Classified Ads.

Managerial Staff

Ad staff annals took on a touch of the revolutionary this year when advertising expert FRANK CARY held down the manager's desk two consecutive semesters. Public relations man deluxe, this executive brain of the Delta Sigs handles his office like a professional, used a quiet tongue and a firm purpose to get a smooth routine. Respected for his mastery of the Kerckhoff political blueprint, Frank filled out his time-table with radio work at C.B.S. and Tri Delt Anne Curtis.

White collar element of the Kerckhoff news room is the managerial staff, business-minded Bruins whose purpose in life is selling the public on the fact that it pays to advertise in the college press. This year, with local and national concerns paring down advertising budgets to bonemarrow minimum, "selling the public" put the accent on aspirin for Cary Incorporated. But a smooth office routine and a competent corps of solicitors, supported by a backlog of "good-will" advertisers, kept the batting average within range of normality, so that the paper came out regularly each mid-morning in the little green box. An ad-staffer's job is a constant test of personal initiative and efficiency, an after-class apprenticeship in fiscal savoir faire.

Ace solicitor BERTHA KELLY did nice things for the advertising quota as her vivacious grin and Alpha Chi likeableness pleased the public. Valued for her business sense, she is one of the staff's prettiest assets.

As right hand man to Frank Cary in the fall semester, BETTY BERCH took care of vital correspondence, did soliciting, and ran up such an efficiency record that in the spring she was made manager of display advertising.

DramaTics

Focal point of the campus to devotees of Campus Theatre are the footlights of Royce Hall, fronting a picturesque tradition of fifteen years of working, experimenting with, and perfecting college dramatics. Dating from those early days when U.C.L.A. was known as "the home of the Greek drama," the history of Bruin theater has woven a varied backdrop of contrasting colorings, with such deep overtones as "St. Joan" and "Julius Caesar," gayer highlights like the smash hit "Of Thee I Sing," plus daring flashes of experimentation like "Dr. Faustus." Into this fascinating work goes a major part of the time. energy, talent, and soul of the Campus Theater man or woman; out of it comes the reputation for theatrical excellence that distinguishes U.C.L.A.'s ventures into the drama

Dark - browed disciple of the footlight phobia, BILL LEVINE directed the workings of Campus Theatre activities from K.H. 401 as executive head, did line-reading too, in "80 Days."

Suave, informal RALPH FREUD, faculty director of dramatics, takes a personal interest in developing campus thespians.

Long a fixture in the theatrical setup, Graduate Manager of Dramatics JACK MORRISON left to do war work in January.

Drama

Warmly human Saroyan drama, "THE BEAUTI-FUL PEOPLE" depicted the fantastic adventures of a lovable San Francisco family, highlighted by the pleasingly natural line-reading of Joan Chafee, Kenny James, and Lamar Caselli.

An adroit blend of Verne and vernacular, lavish extravaganza "AROUND THE WORLD IN EIGHTY DAYS" sparkled with bizarre costumes, unique lighting effects, the amazing emotion of Jack Root, and a comical nodding elephant.

Comedy of the Victorian period, played to campus audiences when "ENGAGED", an involved tale of an ultra-gregarious Scotsman, featured Bill Butler in the role of the fickle gentleman who made a pastime of betrothals.

Marquees in Royce Hall foyer kept full and flashing throughout the summer and fall semesters as Campus Theater planning heads ventured a prodigious, exciting theatrical season, starting with the student-scripted "American Theater Now Playing" and "The Great American Family," in which the cast met and worked with author Lee Shippey. In the Spring 'the drama' moved to Royce Hall 170, known fondly thereafter to student actors as "The Penthouse Playhouse."

Monumental summer undertaking was the elaborate saga of the American stage, running the gamut from early melodrama to sophisticated comedy, "AMERICAN THEATER, NOW PLAYING", an all-star, student-written production.

Actors and production heads gather about RALPH FREUD to study the fine points of stage design in the model set he exhibits, as "Electra" goes into the conference phase. Student stage hands in overalls and slacks will work into the wee hours sawing, hammering and painting props when production actually begins, will learn by doing the simple symmetry of Grecian structures. Down in the Green Room, a bustling little den in Royce Hall basement, pandemonium breaks loose even before a show reaches the footlights as actors stand for fittings from seamstresses like NANCI ROGERS and BERNICE ARANOFF who cut and sew and debate on costumes.

One of the most decreate of production assignments goes to the lighting crew, the steel-nerve a technicians who manipulate the intricate light switches on the backsitad pages blending gow and shadow to the tenor of the drama "up front. AL KELLER ALICE CASSARD and FLORENCE KINSEY seem to be enjoying their work."

Another study in delicacy is the work of the sound crew, students who must learn to synchronize the musical backdrop of each play with dramatic action. From a multitude of records the expert soundie selects the right disc for each sound effect. Here MARY WELCH cautions CONSTANCE KRITZER as she adjusts the needle.

In those last few nervous minutes before curtain call echoes backstage, BLOSSOM AKST takes time to brighten her makeup before facing the audience as Electra.

Makeup time in Campus Theatre dressing rooms finds HELEN GRANT applying the well-known greasepaint to actress JEAN SULLIVAN, who played Chrysothemis.

In the Green Room again, away from the flicker of footlights, KENNY JAMES pleases the wardrobe mistress on "Electra" by hanging away his Grecian costume.

Manual labor is no fiction to JIM LEIGHTON, KATHLEEN FREEMAN, and LO \mid S BICK, members of the property crew whose work BLOSSOM AKST eyes warily

"We present . . . '170'.

In 1923 Gilmor Brown, Ralph Freud and a few others at the Pasadena Community Playhouse set out to develop an idea of Brown's that a studio type theatre of a very plastic space nature might serve as an exciting experiment. The Playbox was opened in Pasadena and proved to be perhaps the most popular stage of the many the Playhouse was to set up. Later the idea was taken up by other groups, notably the University of Washington, where Glenn Hughes emphasized the central staging of plays at what he called 'The Penthouse Theatre.'

This type of theatre depends largely upon two factors: a high degree of intimacy between the actors and the auditors and a freedom from the restrictions in space arrangements imposed by the 'picture frame' arch of the traditional theatre building. The result is a heightened identification with the play and a more moving vicarious experience. The mechanics of the theatre are gone and the communication of the play is clear.

Under the supervision of Ralph Freud, who was one of the pioneers in such a form, the U.C.L.A. Campus Theatre is setting up such a playhouse. They have called it '170' after the classroom which they are adapting to their needs. We cannot say where you will sit. The play may occur in the middle of the audience —it may take place in one end of the room. Never will there be more than 70 people in the audience and we don't expect there will ever be less. Seats will be hard to get, we know. Our aim will be to get the best type audience into the theatre not just to fill the house with anyone in order to accupy space and meet the budget. We want you to come and we know after you've seen your first '170' show you will come again and again and no other type of theatre will ever quite satisfy you as much."

Kenny James, popular young campus theater leading man, came in for his share of the honors in the first "170" production.

CAMPUS THEATER

Making up a sort of Guild among theater activity participants, Campus Theater honorary is an institution embracing students of many types of talents and interests. Not restricted to actors alone, a large portion of stage hands, set designers, and various and sundry production workers rise to prominence in its ranks.

Responsible for the major portion of all productions given at U.C.L.A., Campus Theater has an enviable record for bringing to light talent in the field of dramatic endeavor. Guided by the understanding dynamo of the Public Speaking Department, Ralph Freud, students learn theater as it can only be learned on the stage.

Georgia Gage, popular heroine of the 1942-43 Theater Year, confers with Lee Shippey, author of the successful opener, "The Great American Family," and Bob Niesovitch.

Favorite hang-out of Campus Theater members is their prized "green room" deep in the bottom of Royce. Here Bill Levine, Blossom Akst, Mary Welch, Jean Sullivan and Bob Niesovitch and other luminaries rub shoulders with the lowliest freshman prop girl. Democracy runs rampant.

Among the elected few are Bob Niesovitch and Mary Welch, both members of the Theater Activities Board, and Kap and Bells veterans. Script conferences and program consultation make up many such conclaves in the "green room."

Those thespians who take their greasepaint seriously on campus work for membership in Kap and Bells, whose squarish silver pin symbolizes success in Campus Theatre. This constitutionally-limited group of standouts in Royce Hall histrionics supervises a Laboratory Theatre production each year, and constantly and ardently promotes the cause of excellence in campus dramatics. A fourteen-year-old organization, Kap and Bells trod the Royce Hall boards this year with Bob Niesevitch in lead position as president, and Jean Sullivan handling the fiscal duties as secretary-treasurer.

ZETA PHIETA

Restricted to women, Zeta Phi Eta meets occasionally in the Co-op for cokes and lunch or out in Kerckhoff patio. President Virginia Johnston received support from Joan Herman, Mimsi Sloane and others who have earned membership through theater participation.

The most outstanding women in the field of speech and drama are represented in Zeta Phi Eta, national women's speech arts fraternity. "Claudia", very successfully presented to an off-campus audience, climaxed the season's activities, which consisted of play readings and a children's show. Members of the fraternity intend to continue professional work, and were active in Campus Theatre productions and other dramatic work in the University. Officers are: Virginia Johnston, president; Miriam Sloane, vice-president; Kathleen McGee, secretary; and Jean Lloyd, treasurer. The purpose of the organization is to stimulate speech endeavors and to further development in this field.

Music and Service

Embracing the widest scope of activities of any executive board in the A.S.-U.C.L.A., the Music and Service Board is responsible for the activities of the musical organizations including the Bruin Band, the A Cappella Choir, and the Glee Clubs; Homecoming activities are under its wing and both men's service groups, the Rally Committee and Yeomen are represented. Most popular activity with the student body as a whole, perhaps, is the All University Sing program. Important cog in the A.S.U.C. is the Head Yell Leader who also serves on the Board.

As do all chairmen of executive boards, the Music and Service Chairman sits on the Student Executive Council and presents the reports submitted by the various organizations which are under this jurisdiction. Organized first by Bill "Guff" Godfrey, of Junior Show fame, the Music and Service Board started out in better condition than in any previous year. Succeeding the All-U Sing head as chairman, was Jane Wallerstedt, choral representative, who served from October on.

New feminine note in the Bruin musical score entered as JANE WALLERSTEDT won the chairmanship of the Music and Service Board when former head Bill Godfrey got his Army papers.

SATURDAY:

New to Homecoming was the Liberty Show, lavish revolation of campus talent, which upped war stamp sales and directed a lion's share of prize money to the D.G.-Theta effort.

Homecoming

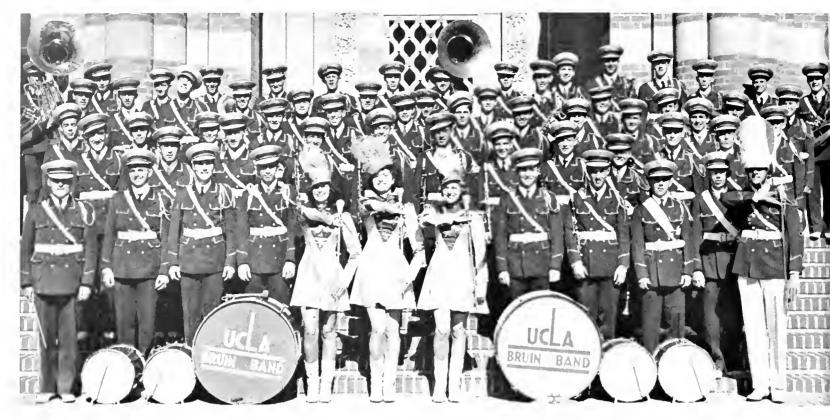

Wartime exigencies put no damper on Homecoming spirit as the traditionally Big Week lost none of the magnitude or merriment of former years. Bruin ingenuity, personified by Homecoming Head Herb Fleming, routed dimout restrictions and budgetary economy to put on a recordbreaking six-day celebration, October 26 to 31. An All-U-Sing Monday night started the festivities with the introduction of lovely Queen Peggie Rich and her court. The latter half of the double-threat, war and weather, blotted out the annual Soph-Frosh Brawl, but a successful Victory Dance Wednesday afternoon and Friday's Hello Day came through unscathed by the elements. As a gigantic Liberty Show Friday evening, a smashing victory over Stanford's Indians Saturday afternoon, and the Alumni Dance in the Hollywood Roosevelt brought the week to a climax, October ended, and once again U.C.L.A. had welcomed home her alumni.

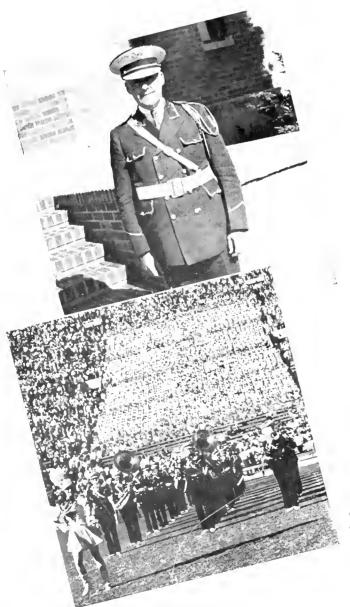

Study in effortlessness was Homecoming Chairman Herb Fleming's smooth control over activities for the momentous week. The brown-haired S.A.E. turned the unhappy duty of breaking the traditional Homecoming bonfire and parade, cancelled by a dimout dilemma, into a happy consequence—the spirited Liberty Show.

Smiling Herb Fleming and Alpha Phi Fran Thurman enjoy the Homecoming Ball at the Hollywood Roosevelt Blossom Room, as did other Uclans, graduates and undergraduates. 1943 HOMECOMING COMMITTEE—Norrie Thompson, John Caldecott, Burr Baldwin, Pat Darby, Margaret MacHaffie, Charlotte Klein, Jane Wallerstedt, Herb Fleming, Chairman, Robin Hickey, Assistant Chairman. No respecter of sedate afternoon stillness, the U.C.L.A. Band pepped up those drowsy hours just before sunset with its spirited practice of rhythmic marches, rousing us from academic lethargy as its martial music broke suddenly over the guad. Coeds began taking up the fife and drum this year, too, under the genial direction of conductor Leroy Allen, which made this season's band an unprecedented but very attractive unit. A Cappella Choir members got a musical thrill accompanying Paul Robeson in 'The Ballad for Americans" when the noted Negro baritone made his campus appearance this spring. A group of well-trained choristers, A Cappellans, as is traditional, brightened Christmas festivities singing in a Westwood Village program.

One very good reason for becoming a band-member is likeable LEROY ALLEN, able conductor, who directs his musicians as much with his ready smile as his baton.

Music

Striking depiction of the principle that music is a substance beyond the confines of peace or war was U.C.L.A.'s galaxy of vocal, instrumental, and choral triumphs this year when, promoted by the Music and Service Board, the committee on drama. lectures, and music, with invaluable aid from Mr. L. L. Beehvmer, Los Angeles impresario, Royce Hall housed the most colorful Concert Series in Bruin annals, with musicians like Arthur Schnabel, Mischa Elman. Paul Robeson, and Helen Traubel bringing their world-recognized artistry to the campus. Throughout the year, too, students majoring in music may take lectures from equally noted Dr. Arnold Schoenbrea. founder of the modern atonic school of music and regular member of our expert music department.

The familiar man at the organ turned University planist this year as DR. GEORGE STEWART McMANUS took over the Royce Hall auditorium keyboard for weekly recitals whose most brilliant highlight was the Pacific Coast debut of "Well-Tempered Clavier" over a series of eight excerptions from the famous work.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

Busy demonstrating that a numerical loss to the armed services has not affected their qualitative standards, the Men's Glee Club, now a double quartet if you include Mr. Moreman, meets for reharsal.

The "old gray mare" analogy applied very aptly to the Men's Glee Club when army draft boards ignored musical considerations by consistently capturing more and more of Raymond Moremen's bassos and baritones. Beginning in the fall as a double octette, only enough men remained in the spring to form a double quartet, with a large predominance of tenors. But since singing is not necessarily a matter of numbers, the eight melody men resolved to stick together to perpetuate a Bruin musical tradition. Accompanying Paul Robeson in the "Ballad for Americans" sequence of his campus concert rewarded their cohesive spirit.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB

"Around the piano" practice sessions are an enjoyable as well as instructive feature of Women's Glee Club routine as Director Moreman points out methods of breath control and clear vocalization.

Harmonious group in more ways than musically, the Women's Glee Club learns the techniques of voice blending; instructed in an informal, friendly manner by expert musician and good fellow Raymond Moremen. Learning to sing together the coed vocalists master the art of cooperative workmanship plus the sheer pleasure of musical expression. New ad venture for the club this year was touring army camps and service clubs with the choral selections they practiced in the classroom, with an Easter Sunday program at Camp Hahn as the high point in the wartime project.

YEOMEN

Upper classmen already elected to the Rally Committee provide leadership for Rally Reserves, taken from the freshman class, and for sophomore Yeoman, who are shown here working over the designs for the stunts on Saturday. Dan Lee, Chairman of Rally workers, supervises.

To the Yeomen, sophomore men's honorary, fell the terrific tasks of ushering at football games, devising new card stunts, aiding their sister Spurs in putting over the record-breaking Concert Series sales campaign, and of being ever on call for impromptu service. Socially these 'Kerckhoff handy men' exchanged lunches with the Trojan Knights and Squires the afternoon of the Rose Bowl Decider and frequently broke bread with the Spurs. Their 1942 triumph was beating out Troy's death-knell on the Victory Bell. Chosen from the Frosh Rally Reserves, they are eligible for Rally Committee membership after this year of yeoman duty under the executive guidance of President Wolf Stern and Vice-President Bob Friedson.

RALLY COMMITTEE

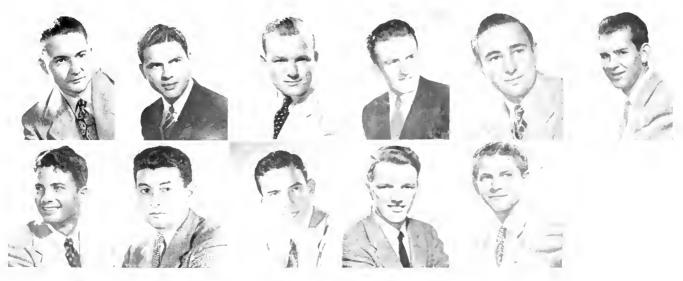

Traditionally preceding the game with the cross-towners, Southern California, the entire committee "pant-ses" their chairman, Dan Lee. Here Dan succeeded in recovering his trousers from the goal post at the south end of the mammoth Coliseum. Rally men were on hand for the final game at the Rose Bowl this year.

Shield bearers in white sweaters who greet the Student Body at the football games, are upper classmen who are elected to the Rally Committee. Traditionally acclaimed for their animated card stunts, this group rivals any other of its kind in the United States. Senior members have worked up from the bottom and know their work well enough to provide efficient handling of the rooters' section and accuracy in the presentation of the stunts.

Notable also amongst Rally Committee members is the common bond of fellowship that exists within the group. Outstanding members this year included Dan Lee, diligent chairman, Roy Barnes, and Manny Seligman. Jack McGill also did a fine job in his senior year.

As the shadows of war crept ever more darkly over the campus and pressures of serious study accelerated and intensified, Bruins proved their practicality by turning to and enriching one of their gayest peacetime traditions, the All-U-Sings as a morale stimulant. Once a month on a Monday night these musical cross-sections of collegiate and professional talent perpetuated the bright lights and spontaneity of calmer years, as radio and screen celebrities crossed the U.C.L.A. quad to work with stage-minded students on the crowd-drawing variety shows.

Fall semester head of the Forensics Board, FRANK WOLFE faced the problems of carrying on a full-fledged forensics program in the face of a stringent shortage of debaters this war-troubled year, rated a student council seat.

Dr. Wesley Lewis directs and advises all campus forensics, teaches debate. James Murray coaches students in oratorical art, oversees Debate Squad.

Collegians take to oratory on the Forensics Board, far western Pi Kappa Delta championship - winning group of upperdivision debate masters who convene every Friday afternoon for oral workouts behind a Royce Hall rostrum. These veterans of forensics tournaments put their prowess at speech-making to practical wartime use by verbally boosting the Red Cross fund drives and student war activities. Chosen at the end of each academic year by the Varsity Debate Squad, the five Board members line up tournaments for Bruin debaters, choose winners of the Senior awards, and schedule debate matches with visiting colleges, led by Frank Wolfe in the fall and Leslie Swabacker this Spring.

Open Forum

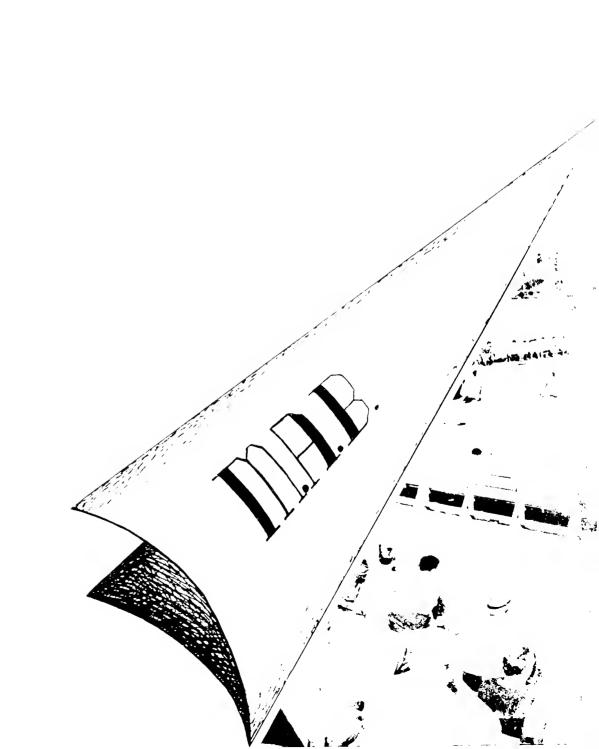

Though forensics as a full-time activity went into a partial eclipse, campus interest in wartime issues of the day was too potent to warrant a complete retreat from the rostrum. Vying for a war bond as first prize, those eager for argument entered an all-University debate tournament in April, from which John Erlichmann emerged victorious. Open Forum served as an all-year safety valve for student opinion on campus and national controversies.

Old hand at the soap box game, debate expert LESLIE SWABACKER added political laurels to loving cups when, on Frank Wolfe's leave-taking, she assumed the position of chairman of Forensics Board, and made her resultant niche on the Student Council a potent force for liberality in student government.

THE OPEN FORUM COMMITTEE . . . made up of Wolf Stern, Eddie Pike, Leslie Swabacker, Jim House, Chairman, Jo Rosenfield and Bill Copenfield. Inactive during the first semester, this group was organized under the direction of the Junior Representative-at-Large on the Student Executive Council, Jim House, who with his committee then proceeded to consider pertinent problems of the war. Traditionally a meeting ground between professors and students, the critical situation of the day was a stimulous to this group.

With grave concern much-loved Bill Spaulding looks benignly after all U.C.L.A. sports in his job of Director of Athletics.

With half a dozen major sports in which our teams vie with the best in collegiate ranks and with almost a score of minor sports accompanying them U.C.L.A. turns out athletes by the hundreds.

Characterized either by sweaters bearing the proud "Blue C" for major sports or "Circle C" for minor sports, or by their colorful travelling jackets, the athletes can be spotted easily on a clear day in any spot where prominent men are likely to gather.

As this book joins its kindred volumes in Bruin libraries the future of the entire athletic program faces a crisis unknown to it for a quarter of a century. But while travel restrictions may reduce the cosmopolitanism that Bruin athletes have known in the past it is unlikely that their sporting spirit will die with it.

S a new device to build up the spirit of the rooters the famed U.C.L.A. Victory Bell was introduced and immediately became the object of a rising wave of interest. Stolen in a scurrilous manner by an illiterate band of knaves, the bell was returned in time for the U.S.C. game where it tolled a history-making victory. In accompaniment to the drama of the bell, yell leaders Hallberg, Kinsey, Hurford and Randall cajoled raucous cheers from a crowd consistently refusing to be kept away from a championship season by gas rationing. And once again a sea of white denoting the Bruin stunt section, under Dan Lee's leadership, brought national fame to the animated card stunts as Joe Bruin cavorted on cardboard.

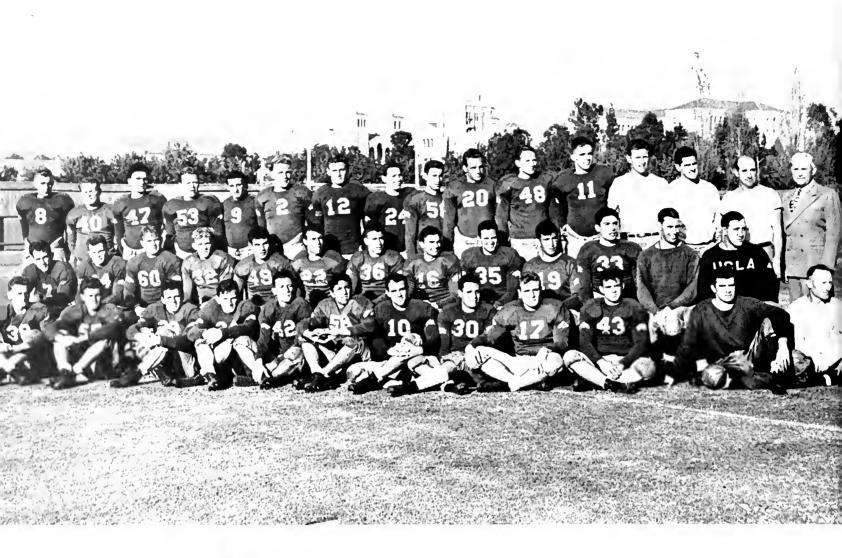

Risen from the Ranks, or close to the madding crowds might be used to describe Head Yell Leader George Hallberg. The noted pantomimist has the sense of humor and forceful enthusiasm that makes a top yell leader.

eye and a dextrous right arm passed U.C.L.A. all the way to the Rose Bowl. It was Bob Waterfield's recordshattering totals of 57 completed passes for 1095 yards that sent the Bruins through their most successful season, with an all-time high of 173 points scored. On the receiving end, Milt Smith likewise set pass catching records for his three years of a total of 53 passes received for 978 yards and 5 touchdowns. This, however, did not beat his previous individual season records. Far ahead of the field for the year, Ken Snelling contributed 45 points with 4 touchdowns, 18 conversions, and one field goal. Solari followed with 24 points scored and a brilliant record on the field. Riddle and the two Smiths followed with 18 points apiece. The real story, though, cannot be told merely by these figures. Scoring statistics do not reveal the fighting spirit and winning technique of the blocking backs and lineman upon whose shoulders fell the chief burden of the offensive drives.

Captain Charlie Fears and Coach Babe put their heads together to concoct some of those winning plays. Captain Charlie's consistently good play at tackle won him a place on numerous All-Coast selections, and to him should go a large share of the credit for the Bruins' victorious season. In addition to football, the talented Fears starred in the Varsity Show.

RIZED plum of all mana gerial jobs is the football managership. Being in close touch with the most popular sport; journeying with the camrus idols on their many trips; and winning travelling jackets, has a strong appeal which is indicated by the large number of men turning out for the jobs. Replete with towels, guards of various kinds, trunks with every size helmet, and varied equipment in hopeful anticipation of meeting any emergency that might arise, the managers are given a mighty responsibility. Vehicle of their trade is the handsome blue and gold waterwagon presented by Joe E. Brown, whose seat on the bench is eternally preserved. Conditions were a little crowded for the managers in the U.S.C. game when each fan buying a $5,000 bond was permitted to sit on the bench.

N spite of Lady Luck's staunch espousal of their causc, the Bruins muffed several of their frequent breaks. The Uclans threatened to score halfway through the second quarter when Waterfield wafted a pass to Milt Smith for a 38 yard gain to the Texas 15, followed by another for 6 more. Snelling crashed center for 2, and on the next play fumbled into the hands of the Texans. The scoreless tie remained unchanged until late in the third period when Bruin Riddle intercepted a pass and sprinted to the Texas 10. On the second play Waterfield shot a short pass to end Milt Smith who dragged two earnestly resisting Texans over the line. Snelling missed the conversion for U.C.L.A. Throughout the game until the last quarter the Bruins displayed quite an aptitude for intercepting passes and blocking punts. T.C.U. received the kickoff and ran it out only to be penalized to their I for clipping. Riddle returned the Texans' kick out to their 28 but the play was called and the Uclans penalized for running into kicker Hall. In the final seven minutes of play T.C.U. started a 94 yard march to the U.C.L.A. goal, led by Nix, who made a 42 yard run en route. On a fourth down from the Bruin 4. Nix angled a short pass to Ezell for six points and the Texans then converted for the winning seventh.

With Baldwin and Sparlis trailing along behind, Snelling thunders into the Texas secondary where Milt Smith and Lescoulie ambush potential tacklers.

vASTLY improved Bruin grid machine stormed and swept up and down the field with new-found power but was unable to counter the high-scoring aggregation of former college greats playing for the Navy. Opening the first quarter with three fast plays that put the ball on the Pre-flight 37, the Bruins gave up the ball on an interception by Bob de Lauer. From there the Navy under the drive of Vic Bottari rolled for 6 points in 6 plays. After blocking the conversion the Californians twice threatened the Navy goal, one try being set up by an interception by Ev Riddle, but both were stopped and two attempted field goals failed. The second quarter opened with a 70 yard Navy drive to their second score but again the conversion failed. Late in the third, after a quarter of ragged play, the crowd was brought to its feet when a long pass to Solari hit his fingers—and went on alone. But the spirit was there and when the pass was repeated to Smith it left the ball on the Pre-flight 16. A five yard penalty, a line buck by Riddle for 9 yards, and yard picked up by Solari left only a yard for Noah Curti to make. Still another goal by the Flyers barely beat the final gun.

ROM the first play of the game which found Ken Snelling breaking away for 21 yards, until the last play when Al Izmirian intercepted a Beaver pass and wiggle-waggled some 30 yards for the final Bruin score, the game was never in doubt. The Bruin backs were brilliant, but the plaudits should go to the Unclan forwards. Ray Richards' pets improved by leaps and bounds since the season began, and for this game they were great. There was no standout in the Bruin line. There couldn't be. They were all terrific. The Bruins had shown signs of greatness since the season began. They rolled up 13 first downs to 10 for the Beavers, and 12 of these were made on the ground. The Beavers threatened twice in the second period after some brilliant runs by Bob Libbee. He took the kick-off following Snelling's field goal and raced to the Bruin 19 where Al Solari collared him. After driving to the Beaver 25 on the first sequence of plays, the Bruins were held and Snelling's place kick failed. However, Waterfield intercepted a Beaver pass and four plays later the Bruins scored. The last Bruin touchdown came on an intercepted pass by Al Izmirian.

Fancy-stepping Bob Waterfield with the aid of Ed Breeding gets off a surprise gain through Ossowski, Crane and Gustafson.

THE surprising Bruins tacked up their third victory in as many tries when Lady Luck dealt them another winning hand. As the first downs and yardage piled up for Santa Clara the points piled up for U.C.L.A. Relentless as a smooth-running machine the Broncos snapped off yard after yard on running plays and the passing of Freitas had the Bruins baffled. Freitas cornered receivers 14 times out of 32 tries for a total aerial gain of 155 yards. The nearest thing to a Bruin score in the first half saw the Broncos send off a sloppy punt then contribute 15 yards on a penalty. A tough struggle put the ball on their 25 yard line, but there it stopped. Streaming out of the tunnel after the half the southern Californians. using only eleven plays, snaked their way 77 yards to the first touchdown of the game. The score was set up by a wide-open reverse to Waterfield who ambled 19 yards to the Bronco five. The kick for conversion flopped. Bronco halfback, Frietas, powered his way to the U.C.L.A. goal. As the clock moved through the last few seconds, Ev Riddle suddenly snapped up a Bronc pass and sped 30 yards for the final score. The last point was added after the gun.

ful football season hit a new high following U.C.L.A.'s 21-0 victory over the "northern branch" in the Berkeley Memorial stadium. The Bruin line again demonstrated its prowess, particularly in the second quarter when they stopped two thrusts inside their 10 yard line. The Bruins took the opening kickoff and drove right down to the Bear 17 before relinquishing the pigskin. Solari returned the Bear punt to the 32, and after 3 downs both gained only 2 yards, Waterfield dropped back and threw a strike to Herb Weiner, who was flying down the sidelines. Weiner made a circus catch on the 12 and bulled his way over the goal line. Snelling added the extra point. The Bruins cracked the score column again midway in the third quarter on the perfect play of the game. After a series of line smashes by Snelling and Solari had moved the ball to the 3 yard line, Waterfield faked to the same two then kept the ball to score all by himself. Snelling added the extra point and U.C.L.A. held a 14-0 third quarter lead. The third and final score came in the fourth period on a pass from Waterfield to Baldwin. Again the catch was made with Bear defenders surrounding the Bruin, but Mr. Baldwin stole the show and 6 points trotting into the end zone. This time Waterfield added the extra point with a perfect kick.

EVEN points on an opening play fumble gave the Indians a psychological advantage, but the Bruins were not to be denied. The remainder of the first quarter saw the Bruins threaten and again lose out on a fumble on the Stanford 21. Then, rivaling a cloud of low-flying P-38's, Waterfield floated two thrilling passes into the arms of Solari in the end zone. Both times Snelling attempted to convert but on the second try was foiled by fast-charging Cardinal linemen, leaving the Bruins ahead by a single shaky touchdown at the half. At the opening of the second half the Bruins were pushed back on penalties to their five yard line where an exchange of punts left the Indians knocking on U.C.L.A.'s door again. This time the Bruins were brought to their feet by Snelling's interception in the middle of a smoothclicking Stanford pass combination. After reaching the Stanford 4, where Waterfield's pass was intercepted in the end zone, the Uclans were held off until a fumble set up the final score.

Vucinich, Indian center, races to head off Al Izmirian as the Bruins attempt to fight their way out of tight hole.

Na soggy rain-drenched turf the mighty and greatly favored Bruins went down to ignominious defeat before a fighting Oregon team. If all the amazed spectators were laid end to end they would look no funnier than did the two teams wallowing in the mire below. The Bruins got off to an auspicious start with Solari's seventy-two yard return of the kickoff, only to be stopped by a Webfoot pass interception. The indomitable Solari tried again with a fifty-seven yard run to the Oregon twenty-five, where Snelling missed an attempted field goal. At this point the doughty Ducks took over and swam eighty yards upfield to score in five plays. Not content with this the Webfoot made two more tries, only to be stopped by timely interceptions. Then came the Bruins, and seven plays found them over the Oregon end zone, aided by Waterfield's aerial artistry. U.C.L.A. threatened briefly in the fourth period, but Oregon intercepted and marched up the field to score again, and the game was all theirs. This upset rather jarred the Rose Bowl dream, and a sadder but wiser Bruin squad entrained for the sunny slopes of Westwood with the grim avowal that Washington had better look out.

EFORE six minutes had elapsed a Bruin jack-in-the-box bounced 58 yards to a touchdown but for the remaining three quarters turned first one cheek, then the other. Sniffing hungrily at the Rose Bowl the big Bruin felt for its second straight game the lash of a powerful opponent as the Washington Huskies pranced at will in Bruin territory. After pushing the Uclans about mercilessly for most of the first half the Huskies lined up against U.C.L.A.'s second string in the third quarter and in two minutes the score was tied 7-7. With Waterfield hazy from a kick in the jaw: with Snelling, Phillips, Solari, and Riddle, in the backfield, and linemen Lescoulie, Sparlis, and Armstrong, all crippled from the vicious blocking and tackling of the Huskies, Erickson, the Washington left half, ambled nonchalantly through the middle of the Bruin line to the end zone, 47 yards away. In the same quarter the Huskies pushed into the lead with a 15 yard field goal then lost it by a tricky touchdown pass from Waterfield to Wiener. A last minute play saw the Huskies, with a first down on the Bruin 2, fumble the ball and the game as Milt Smith recovered.

HE way Coach Babe Horrell's quarterback completed pass after pass against the northerners was something miraculous. The Bruins rolled up a total of 319 yards gained from pigskin passes completed 16 times. Except for Waterfield the game would have been entitled "The Smith Boys Have a Field Day" as Messrs. Vic and Milt Smith tallied two touchdowns apiece and in general had a pretty profitable afternoon. The initial score of the game was made by V. opened up with a tricky passing attack, but failed to cross the goal line on that series of plays. Again in the opening period V. Smith earned himself another six points on another pass from Waterfield. The next time Idaho got the ball they completed enough passes to make it 14-6 at the end of the quarter. During the second stanza "Snuffy" Smith took over where Vic left off and soon afterward had produced six more points on a pass from Waterfield. Later in the same period "Snuffy" caught another touchdown pass. Al Izmirian then took a reverse and ran 14 yards to pay dirt, making the final score 40 to 13. Although badly beaten, Idaho was a threat at all times and would have been much better if a few more of those passes had connected.

GIT HIS sunny Saturday will long be remem-L bered as the great day in U.C.L.A. grid history, for at long last the ambitious Bruins emerged victorious over their traditional crosstown rivals. It was a clean, fast hard-fought game, and very even according to the statistics, but the relentless line and alert backfield of the Bruins combined with S.C.'s persistent fumbling to turn the tables on Troy. From the S.C. twenty Waterfield set up the initial score by a sneak reverse to the six, Vic Smith drove to the two, and Snelling had the honor of driving over for the first six points and making his conversion good. The third period saw the Bruins hammering steadily for short gains down to the S.C. forty-two. From there Waterfield rifled the ball to the twenty and Burr Baldwin then dutifully carried it over past two frantic Trojans. Snelling again converted. Later in the same quarter S.C. passed from the U.C.L.A. forty to the ten, and McCardle sprinted over for the solitary Troy score, although they threatened again in the fourth with a pass which fell incomplete in the end zone. Following the game, S.C. wished the victors well with a "Beat Georgia" yell, and the Bruins were Pasadena bound.

In the closing minutes of the third quarter Burr Baldwin lopes over the Trojan goal line on the receiving end of Waterfield's pass while the scoreboard publishes the good news from the first half. This is the same good news that Bruins have awaited to these many years, through lean seasons and through 1939's when the coveted victory was almost within grasp. Although the game is not over yet, and S.C. will still score in the fourth, to Joe and Josey it is beginning to look like this is finally it, this is the year that Troy falls. . . .

Herb Weiner rises to his knees to see what happened to Bruin ball carrier Vic Smith, while Jim Dougherty surveys the melee from the right and Art Spielman insures the removal of one struggling Trojan from further participation in the play. If this stalwart official were not in the way we could say more about who is on the bottom of the pile but we suggest that for further details you consult the S.C. rooters who were a few feet away on the right. It is quite possible that they noticed several Bruins on the field during the course of the afternoon.

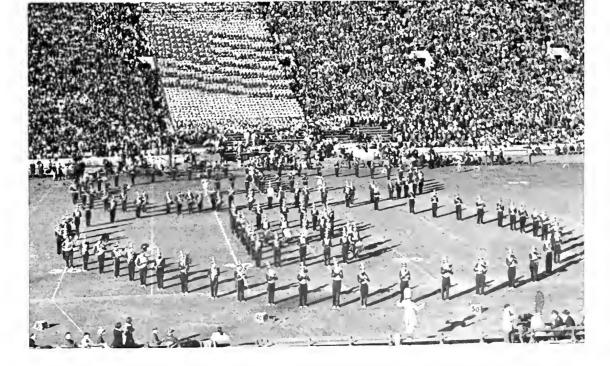

The big moment. All eyes are turned to the tunnel as Tackle Jack Findlay leads the Bruin squad on the jog out to mid-field warm-ups with Ken Snelling and Jack Lescoulie jogging along behind. All the suspense and hubba-hubba have led up to this, and now the team takes over for the afternoon. Look out, Trojans, here we come!

Came nightfall and these same festive guys and gals were all over at the big moonlight rally and street dance on Gayley, whooping it up all over again, and making the hills resound with a "BRUIN VARSITY SIX" and a "V-I-C-T-O-R-Y". The evening's parade featured stopovers at both Village showhouses, where the managers obligingly put on pictures of the S.C.-U.C.L.A. game. This introduced a new yell into Hallberg's repertoire, the "MANAGER SIX".

A spontaneous rally heads down the hill for the Village and a big yell session in the middle of Wilshire Boulevard. This is the kind of spirit that pepped up the Bruin team for a winning season, lots of noise, lots of chatter, lots of compah from the brass section, and lots of solid conviction that this year the Bruins were in the money.

The combined bands of Troy and Bruins serenade the U.C.L.A. stands as the S.C. rooting section flips up the Stars and Stripes, to a roar of applause. The Trojan section with its usual precision gave us an inspiring picture as well as something to think about seriously as we saw the display of the American traditions of sportsmanship and fair play on the field and in the stands.

HE crunch of wood as the goal posts toppled in the hands of souvenir hunters was the last scene at a thrill-crammed game marking the Bruins' first performance in the Rose Bowl. For the four quarters preceding, a dogged band of Bruins had fought off all but one attempt of a determined and tricky southern team to reach this goal. After "Rhino" Snelling sent the initial kickoff far down into the Georgians' end zone, a bitter, scoreless first half made the curtain of intermission add a dramatic touch to the thrilling beginning. Opening like the finale of a melodrama the third quarter saw the Bulldogs sweep triumphantly to the U.C.L.A. two yard line. Stunningly, then, the ball scudded from the arms of Georgia's immortal, Sinkwich, and in a flash Herb Weiner pounced on it. Starting the final quarter from there Waterfield's punt was blocked and the visitors were credited with two points. A recovery of the free kick following started the Bruins off again but a disheartening pass interception set the Bulldogs up for the only touch down of the game. After carving off some 65 yards against the fading Bruin resistance they finally pushed across the last white line.

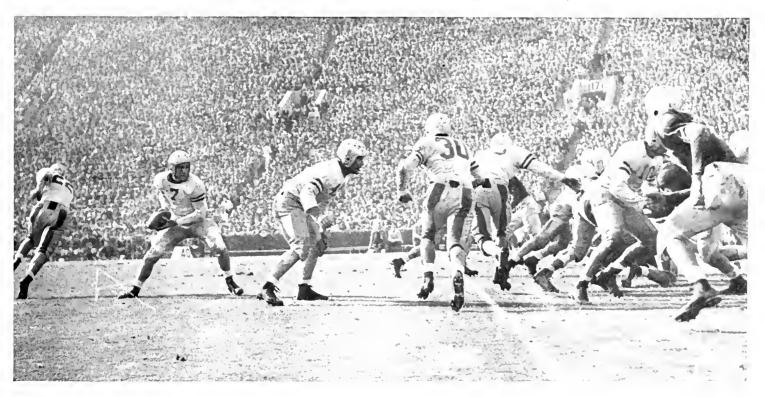

Admiring rooters yell lustily as the Bruins' No. I fan, Joe E. Brown, gets up in front of the section and leads a "Brown special." Note: he did not swallow the microphone.

The game's most heartbreaking play saw Vic Smith land three inches short of a first down on the Bulldog 19. Davis and Maguire swarm over him as Baldwin slides by. At left, Sparlis, Ellinson (Georgia), Finlay and Smith watch breathlessly. In the background Riddle, Davis (Georgia), and Fears are out of the play.

Waterfield fakes to Riddle at far left and glances shrewdly at the wall of muscle shielding his reverse. Snelling crouches in readiness while Solari cuts straight over the weak side and Wiener (number 30) eases up to take the reverse. On the right, Georgia's Poschner swoops around Fears a fraction too late.

Behind the screen of capable blocking the Commandos are unable to break through and nab a speedy City College back.

As the Cub linemen sweep around the end the Commandos kick their way out of a tight spot, relinquishing the offensive.

VACUUM caused by war-time manpower shortages made the uniting of the junior varsity and freshman football squads unavoidable. Even this combination, dubbed the Commandos, had not enough manpower to escape a hard, lean year.

A practice game with Long Beach J.C. left the Bruin squad with a satisfying 18 to 0 starter. But the following week saw Oceanside J.C. slip past the Bruin ends to break up a conversion; then, by putting over 7 points of their own, edge out the locals 7-6. Most of the remainder of the season was a nightmare. The Los Alamitos Flyers permitted the Bruins only 6 points to their 20. Santa Monica J.C. compiled the brutal score of 34 to 7 while L.A. City College won 21-14. The Commandos' cup was full when Minter Field's cadets won 20 to 0.

OR grinding off the raw edger and permitting teamwork to develop the practice season is generally an indispensable part of the basketball schedule. A hint of the threat the Bruins were to offer in conference competition was given when, out of a dozen games, the Bruins dropped only two. Vega Aircraft, Loyola, and San Francisco fell one by one before Whittier put over a surprise 44-42 victory. Among others, the clever Fox Studio five engaged the Bruins and in only one tilt out of three were they able to edge out the local squad.

Early season lineups usually included Lee at center. West and Panovich, forwards, and Fryer and Baddeley, guards. Hottest man on the court was speedy Dick West while Bill O'Brien and Ains Bell showed most improvement.

Stanford probably played its best game of the season when it fell before a Bruin onslaught to the tune of 60-57. The shining star in the Bruin victory was cagy Dick Perry, former forward. Too much depth in the forward positions convinced Coach Johns that good material was being wasted. As Captain Fryer left in the middle of the season, therefore, Perry was shifted to guard with amazing results. The crack forward forgot that his position is normally defensive and kept moving forward to add up a total of 18 points. But between shots he proved his worth in his lion-like guarding so that most of the Indian baskets were made through the center. The second game a farce enacted on the Palo Alto stage, found a pitifully weak squad from the south scrape up only 41 points to compare with 60 for the Indians. A fast start left the Bruins in the lead 24-21 at halftime but an onrushing squad of Stanford sharpshooters kept the U.C.L.A. squad breathless and bewildered. Final result was to snatch from the Bruins the last chance for a 1943 championship squad.

EVERAL thousand fans braving the torrents saw a veteran Trojan squad slip through the Bruin guards for 60 points while the Westwood cagers could only tally 49. Hottest competition of all from the Bruin standpoint was between the two Bruin centers, Lee and O'Brien, when O'Brien contributed II points by his unorthodox shots. Although a brilliant season for the latter was cut short by his departure for the army, Marv Lee became the big problem of the team with the appearance of flashy Don Barksdale and ended up as an alternate center-forward.

In the second game O'Brien again baffled the Trojans with his unusual shots but veteran Lee led the field with II points scored. The outcome was never uncertain as the U.S.C. boys pushed ahead 16-7 early in the game and with Seminoff and Rock clicking piled up a score of 51 to 39.

finally picked the winning combination and eleven years of consistent defeats were reversed with a thrilling 42-37 Bruin victory. By the clever play of center Don Barksdale, who contributed 18 solid points, and the guarding of Perry and Bell every campaign waged by the Trojans was successfully countered. Much of the spirit of the evening was contributed by nimble-legged Mickey Panovich who finally hit his stride. The speedy forward showed by constant interceptions and smart set-ups how dangerous it was to forget him even for a moment.

With the record finally broken the revamped U.C.L.A. squad was forced to drop a heartbreaking game the second evening when the winning combination was broken up by fouls. Not only Barksdale but the dogged determined guard Ainslie Bell was forced out. The magic of the moment actually brought forth such a player and the league began to burn with the name of Dick West. The young transfer from Long Beach immediately proved his worth by picking up 18 spectacular points in the league opener with Cal on the home floor. foul shots were sunk by the Bruins. The second game with the Bears found a disheartened squad, losers the night before to Stanford, barely eking out a 42-40 victory on the Bear home court. Hero of the evening was another newcomer, Don Barksdale, a midseason transfer. After a hard battle had erased the Bears' halftime lead of 17-13, Barksdale put the Bruins ahead by his timely shooting. Bitterly, the Bear rooters watched the tall, dusky center who had almost gone to Cal, keep full control of the keyhole slot with his uncanny ball-handling and brilliant coverage of rebounds.

The double win over the Bears assured the Bruins of continuing in the race for a top position in the conference.

UNNING a close race with time about a dozen freshmen barely slip through a hot and cold basketball season. With a record of something like 66 per cent wins over such teams as Vega and Douglas Aircraft, Loyola High, and Compton J.C., including a 50-50 split with U.S.C., the team scarcely evaded the two-edged axe of ineligibility or military service. Sparking the machine on the offensive were high-scoring forward Irvin Klein, and Milt Freeman and Louie Zavislak, also forwards. Taylor Lewis gave valuable height to the center spot while Martin Bondar, Captain Bill Rankin, and Evan Vail shone in the guard positions.

S the 1943 Southern Campus went to press, the Varsity baseball squao dangled somewhere near the top but still behind the league-leading Trojans. Two more games with these rivals gave small chance to alter the margin though the Bruin battery was improving steadily. Tough luck first hit the squad when Coach McGinnis and all but two of last year's veterans failed to return. The coaching job was soon taken over by sports-lover A. J. Sturzenegger and the team was replenished by several freshmen under a war ruling permitting them to compete with varsities. Getting off to a slow start led Coach Sturzenegger to declare that the infield was the best in U.C.L.A.'s history.

Jack Dowlin and Dewane Burgess wait for their ups. This pair were two of Coach Sturzenegger's most faithful hitters.

INE successive times the Bruins stood up against the touted Trojan infield and only twice were they able to circle the bases. With Shedd ill, Don Hanson took the mound duties since it was an exhibition game, and Beling was saved for the League match with Loyola following.

Relieving Shedd in the first frame of the Loyola match, Beling held a shutout until the last when the final two Lion points were made. Serving not only as the sparkplug of the defense, catcher Vic Smith was also the keystone of the 8 point arch raised over the Lions. Sending Dowlin in on a single, Vic himself was shortly pushed in by Schattinger's one base drive.

A new pitcher appeared for the Bruins when Burt Avedon in his first game wrapped up a glowing 13-2 win over Pepperdine. Opening the first inning, lead-off man Jack Burgess, single remaining veteran of last year's team, lifted a homer over the left fielder's shoulder. SLOW entrance into League competition saw the Bruins fall by a single run in an exhibition game with a visiting Lion nine. With Milt Shedd on the mound the winners tallied II hits for 7 runs and permitted only six Bruins to cross the plate.

Opening the regular conference schedule with Occidental, the Bruins met a quick setback, also at 6-7, when Milt Shedd gave away only seven hits to his opponent's eleven. Going into the eighth with a 5-3 lead the locals let in three Bengals on a pair of hits and a pair of errors. For the first time, though, the Bruins began to get their eye, as Dewane Burgess brought in brother Jack on a sizzling grounder off third and Dowlin singled for a score by Angeles.

Like the crack of doom the U.C.L.A. team finally began clicking when, with Willard Beling pitching, the Whittier baseballers were trampled 6-4. No conference standings were altered when the Bruins were blanked by the cross-towners in their second exhibition trial, but the Bruins' best was brought out in an attempt to plug up the dyke. Beling, Hanson, and Avedon only kept the scoring down to 9. In service only part time, Beling was fresh for the League fray with Oxy following. His 5 hit pitching and Dowlin's explosive bat which brought in all three runs placed the Bruins more securely in second place with the 3-2 victory.

Doffing his mask and padding for a while, catcher Vic Smith digs deep and squares away at a one down the middle.

Track

O sooner was the 1943 track season started than Coach Harry Trotter said goodbye to a potential champion, lanky Don Barksdale, high jumper and broad jumper extraordinary departed for the army and left a hole hard to fill. Biggest burden fell on the shoulders of Captain Ken Boyd, and Mode Perry in the middle distances and mile, and upon Ray Maggard in the pole vault, Hoxsie Griswold in the weights and Al Izmirian in the sprints. Once again suffering from lack of depth the squad successfully overwhelmed the teams it could meet on the same terms, such as Oxy and Pomona, but could not match the point making power of the Trojans.

POMONA

MEET

AISING the curtain on what was expected to be a bleak season, the Bruin tracksters walloped a weak Pomona team without very many outstanding marks. Ray Maggard, star pole-vaulter, began to display his versatility by burning up the 220 in 22.5. Not content with placing in the short dash he came back with 5 points in the vault. Pomonan Dave Fisher bottled up 10 points his team sorely needed by his 10 second victory over Maggard and Izmirian in the century and a hot 49.5 victory over Bruin Captain Ken Boyd in the 440.

Mode Perry contributed an early season mark of 4m. 41.5 in the mile after Boyd had set a smooth 1:59.5 in the 880.

Hoxie Griswold loafed to win weight victories with marks of 47 ft. 5 in. for the shotput and a scant 129 ft. for the discus. Ed Breeding tossed the spear a goodly $1761/_2$ ft. and the coup de grace was administered by a 3:28.8 relay win by the Bruins.

With the aid of such dependables as Griswold. Izmarian, and Maggard, the Bruins edged out the Oxy Tigers for another resounding league victory. Izmirian needed only a 10.2 second dash to win the hundred but by skinning a hurdle was kept from possibly more points in the 220 lows. Griswold came through with firsts in the weights, but top honors go to the surprising Ray Maggard. Formerly only a vaulter, Maggard blossomed out from his first in the vault to place in the high jump, a close second in the broad jump and 100 yard dash, and a fast win in the 220. Perry and Densmore wolfed the mile places and Perry came back for a win of his own in the two-mile.

A triangular meet with L.A.C.C. and Pepperdine gave all three teams what was probably a much needed practice. No score was kept, although the Bruins scored an estimated 83 points with the other two splitting 48 between them. Shining performances were the 143 ft. 91/2 in. heave of the discus by Griswold and Wardell's surprising win in the 440 over veteran Ken Boyd.

PLITTING an afternoon on the visiting teams of Pepperdine and Oxy two Bruin squads were victorious with only one loss apiece. MARSHALL CLELAND

TILL open-mouthed with the possibilities of crew racing, mighty armadas were brought to southern waters with the result that local shell aspirations fell with a resounding splash. In that first year, 1933, the Bruin crew chased across the finish line such powerful boats as those from California and Washington, and in a history-making regatta, Yale, Cornell, and Harvard.

The first intercollegiate laurels came this way when Wisconsin failed to match the endurance of the 1935 crew. Ben Wallis was coach by this time and the Bruins, under his guidance, were unsuccessfully matched against Penn., Cal., Syracuse, Washington and Wisconsin in the extravaganza known as the Second National Intercollegiate Crew Regatta.

The most powerful eight ever put out by the Bruins was formed in 1938 when Oregon State and Sacramento J.C. lost by large margins, but the Cal crew, with a final push, finished a length and a half ahead.

BILL RIPPEY

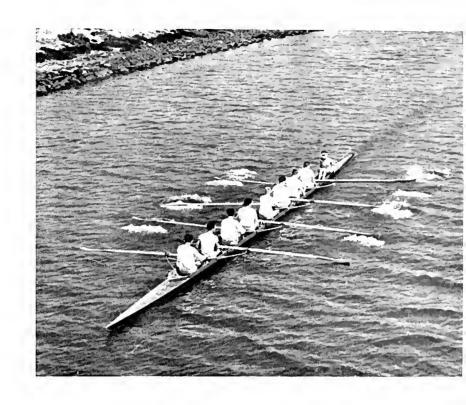

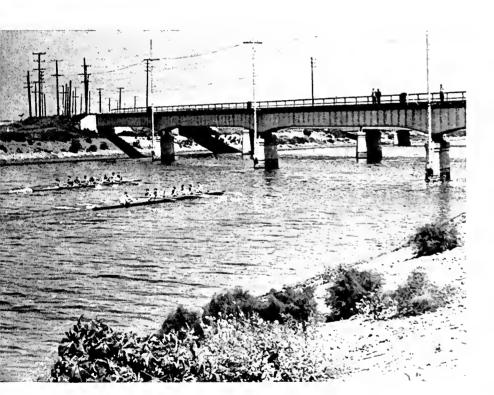

GABRIEL SIPOS

NE of his first acts when Ben Wallis took over the coaching duties was to repeat a plan for financing the sport that he had used when coaching at Cal. The Bruin Rowing Club was organized with each Varsity aspirant a member. The Crew elected a Commodore to direct the activities of the Club while Wallis acted as Treasurer. Active coeds, interested in the sport, were organized in 1941 into an auxiliary group known as Shell and Oar. By the untiring labor of these two groups and by private contributions, the meager facilities thus far gained include little more than the boathouse where the activities center.

As the group labored nightly for its first race, with Stanford, Coach Wallis named five veterans and three newcomers for seats in the first boat. At stroke, Marshall Cleland; seven, Warren Beck; six, Bill Merrill; five, Rudy Massman; four, Herschel Phillips; three, Brit Turner; two, John Corbeil; and Phil Baker in the bow. Timing and steering were in the hands of Coxswain Bill Rippey.

Frosh

ITH only one race promised them; with several illnesses hitting the squad; the frosh demonstrated well the axiom that only he who truly loved the sport would hold up under the hard work and long hours it requires. Ground to a razor edge trim by hardy little Bob Hillen, frosh coach, the boat lined up with Hample at stroke, Lott in 7 position; K. Baker, 6; Keusdor, 5; Wetherby, 4; Stuart, 3; Flitton, 2; Briggs, at bow, and Lasky as coxswain.

Spectator sportsmen and promoters who like to mingle with athletic stars figure prominently in the ranks of Ball and Chain. Managers are typical sideline workers. Here we see a few with Blue C member Bill Armstrong.

BALL AND CHAIN

Exclusively for the men on the sidelines, Ball and Chain draws its membership from the men who manage teams. Although junior and senior managers of major sports and senior managers of minor sports are eligible they must first be selected by the active membership. The group is a local organization, for while similar groups exist on other West Coast campuses, efforts to unite them have, in the past, been unsuccessful. The origin of the society seems shrouded in mystery inasmuch as no records have been kept of its founding. Bill Meyer, president of the group, looks ahead in its bi-monthly meetings to maintaining its traditional program, including the sponsoring of Men's-Do during Men's Week. Actual attendance at meetings is scant, probably due to the long hours needed in their work.

Swelled each year by the proud wearers of the Blue C award to Bruin athletes, this is an organization built not upon the ties of weekly meetings and parliamentary procedure, but upon the comradeship and endeavor of common participation in major inter-collegiate competition. Men from the crew shells, football ranks, the track and baseball diamond, men from the tennis courts, find reward in membership in this group.

O provide a sport to the taste of almost any athlete is the aim of the U.C.L.A. Minor Sports program. But the years have taken their toll and while all have been curtailed, ice hockey and handball were dropped altogether.

The 1942-43 season muddled through with fame coming from the feats of such teams as soccer, 145-pound basketball, and waterpolo. Bruin power was frequently displayed also in the wrestling, gym, and boxing teams.

The importance of these minor sports to the major sports will not be lost if the reader checks through the rosters and finds how many athletes go out for two or more sports to keep fit all year round.

SKIMPY schedule did not prevent Coach Harry Trotter from getting a preview of Bruin track hopes for distance men as the cross country team went through a hot and cold season. Opening in a triple meet with L.A. City College and Santa Monica J.C. the team piled up a score of 43 points (low scores mean better showings), but due to a technicality were running unattached.

Led by hardy Mode Perry the Bruins snatched a 23-24 victory from Compton J.C. and Perry, Ed Errett, and little Ken Boyd all contributed to a topheavy win of 19 to 41 over City College. WANING importance of organized sports was reversed in the soccer season where a large and powerful Bruin team swept to a hair-breadth short of the City Cup Championship. Behind the flashy play of the tiny Chinese forward, Chang, only three teams were able to spoil a perfect record. Losses to the Scot's Juniors were balanced by victories over the Douglas Juniors, the Victorians, the Magyars, and the Lions.

Key man behind the Bruin offensive was young "Professor" Jimmy Crutchfield, coach and player. Along with high scorer Chang, Ramos, Stern, and Smith could be counted on for stellar play, and numerous other men provided depth for the leaders.

In the City Cup Finals the championship finally boiled down to the Magyars and the Bruins. In the pinch the Magyars were able to grab the cup, leaving the Bruins with an honorable second place.

The mass exodus of Bruin males answering to the roll call of the Enlisted Reserve was a unique episode of the War Year. Preceded by a "kiss the boys good-bye" affair in Kerckhoff Hall, the final departure was made from the Westwood Boulevard entrance of the Men's Gym, amidst band playing and fraternity rooting sections from the roof on down. Alphabetically the first Bruin contingent proceeded to active duty.

An early morning haze failed to dampen the spirit of the crowd which was demonstrating a last show of Bruin spirit to the departing members of the student body. Our loss was the army's gain, and many campus luminaries dotted the roll.

The scope of the present war was brought ignitional, nearer to Naval Cadets spending their summer cruise at San Pedro Section Base instead of the usual patt eships or destroyer cruise. With the theme of things to come established, no one was surprised to find drill periods lengthened, studies more difficult. A definite acceleration program provided for the speeding up of each class with the junior and senior groups to be commissioned in June and sent on active duty. Graduates may expect duty in any number of fields and types of vessels such as destroyers, submarines, cruisers, p-t boats or in the Marine Corps.

The battalion was ably commanded by Jim Conley and John McGill who acted as Cadet Captain throughout the first and second semesters, respectively. June will also find all N.R.O.T.C. cadets classified as V-12 seamen on active duty, lodged in local fraternity houses. Thus will one of the country's best sources of naval officers continue to function throughout the year.

Work

Kerckhoff goes to war! With the rationing of social life becoming more evident, the Bruin men and women shifted their energies toward war activities. A.W.S. committees were converted into Red Cross production groups and hostess units for the purpose of entertaining men in the armed forces. The most important undertaking was the establishment of the Hospitality House which welcomes enlisted men as well as officers and cadets. The Red Cross production groups made such articles as afghans, scrapbooks, slippers which were sent to our injured boys. The War Board under the leadership of Tom Papich and Leon Cooper organized the various campus living groups for war work by appointing representatives and working through them. This plan helped to make the different campaigns successful. The entire proceeds of the Campus Theater production "Babes in Boyland" went to the Red Cross.

Black coffee and orange juice constituted the refreshments served to the blood donors as they awaited their turn to give a pint of "corpuscles." Healthy Uclans reported that they suffered no ill effects after the donations.

Janice Beavon, Senior Class president, smiles courageously as Virginia Hogaboom, head of the Red Cross unit at U.C.L.A., reaches for Jan's blood donation application. The Blood Bank has received many donations from patriotic Bruins.

R.A.F. Wing Commander David Scott Malden and Lieutenant Woltjer of the Netherlands Navy were cordially welcomed by such well known Bruins as Jane Wallerstedt, Wolf Stern, Virginia Hogaboom and Pat Darby.

Behind the A.W.S. presidential gavel, the composure and serene dignity of tall, slender, and good-looking JANE MARY EKLUND added quiet charm to the council table. One of the few non-orgs ever to win the coveted executive post, Miss Eklund, a Mortar Board member, had chalked up three previous years of service to the Associated Women Students before running for the office last year.

Serious contrast to the usual frivolity of Women's Week events entered the picture when MORTAR BOARD, senior women's honorary, sponsored addresses by LT. LOUISE HORAK of the W.A.A.C. and LT. FRANCES SHOUP of the W.A.V.E.S. with tea and open discussion following. Dean of Women HELEN M. LAUGHLIN and JANE MARY EKLUND are pictured talking with LT. HORAK.

KAPPA DELT Hi-Jinxers put together a song-and-dance version of "life on the farm" replete with a winking cow and trick clothes line at the annual feminine free-for-all which each year climaxes Women's Week. This year KEY AND SCROLL annexed the first prize cup with a cleverly written satire on activity women, the first honorary ever to take part in Hi Jinx.

For a down-to-earth inaugural of Women's Week, coeds traditionally convene leisurely on the green fronting the women's gym over box lunches and a pastoral swing session from the public address system, as "SPUR DAY" begins festivities. Sororities refrain from serving lunches on that day so that women like the group below can picnic on campus.

The Women

Coeds played at campus monopolv from November 9 to the 15 as the 1943 calendar recorded another Women's Week. Sophistication was a dead issue as Spur Day with its informal box lunch and cottons-andhair-ribbons style note as Millie Partridge's project got under way. Key and Scroll delighted a surprisingly mixed audience with an aquacade and fashion show on Tuesday, livening the event with a $25 war bond raffle. Wednesday Mortar Board enlightened campus women by sponsoring E.B. 100 appearances of the W.A.A.C. and W.A.V.E.S. representatives. The annual Royce Hall riot broke loose again Thursday night when Hi Jinx and its dynamic "Women in Action" tagline climaxed festivities.

With a candid, person-to-person description of life as a feminine member of the United States Marine Corps, MAJOR RUTH CHENEY STREETER won over a large portion of the coed audience which heard her speak in E.B. 100 last March to a maritime way of thinking.

To Mortar Board's "women-in-service" lecture-tea came LT. FRANCES SHOUP of the W.A.V.E.S. who drew a large audience with her fascinating narratives about the exciting business of belonging to the naval auxiliary.

Magnetic lady officer in the W.A.A.C., LT. LOUISE HORAK explained to Kerckhoff coeds the necessary prerequisites for and the advantages of marching in the ranks of the women who wear the brown khaki uniforms.

At War

Militarization of the "outside" world reached into the hill-bordered campus this year as women took strong notice of W.A.V.E.S., W.A.-A.C., Spars, and Marine recruiting posters, visited naval armories and service information desks throughout each semester, eager to find out qualifications demanded by each service organization, anxious about their chances for officers' training, debating whether to finish school and get a degree or to "join up" right away. Entirely new problems and choices faced the coed; her normal, gay collegienne way of living had fled for the duration.

"Come explore 574" the little signs implored along Hilgard this year—574 being the Y.W.C.A., one of the most noteworthy nuclei of activities for women who refuse to confine themselves to classes and dates. Liz Whitfield's spirited and creative leadership, exemplified by her welter of clever ideas and talented poster-making, not only ably maintained former avenues of "Y" enterprising, but opened new horizons for her favorite organization. Aiding Liz in her executive capacities were Jane Wallerstedt, vicepresident, Dorothy Rayburn, treasurer, and Virginia Hogaboom, secretary.

Foremost among the many endeavors which somehow are encompassed in four walls are projects like Leadership Training, the World Student Service Fund, Flying Squadron, the annual Asilomar Conference, Toy Loan drives, and the popular discussion group series featuring psychiatrist Dr. Fritz Kunkel.

Gathering eagerly about the tea table at one of the frequent informal cup and saucer bull-sessions which turn attention to the problems and hopes of college life and the role of the Y.W.C.A. in broadening the scope of Westwood achievements, are Gabriela Hamburger, Liz Whitfield, and Carmen Engebretsen.

Christmas brought a gaily decorated tree to the "Y" and a party where Bruin coeds entertained Sawtelle children. President Liz Whitfield made her young guests feel at home with games, refreshments, and cozy corner conversations like this one about the significance and joy of the holiday.

Crowning glory of any Senior women is to wear the small black pin of Mortar Board, which signifies in metal that she leads her class in scholarship, personal initiative, and achievement, and is limited to the wnership of from only five to twenty women. Supreme highlight of the Spring Awards banquet is the tapping ceremony of this honorary, a hectic but impressive blend of formality and intense emotion. Steered by President Leslie Swabacker, fifteen members this year sponsored a Waacs and Waves lecture and tea during Women's Week, numerous charity drives, and exchange luncheons.

KEY AND SCROLL

Precedent took a beating from energetic Key and Scroll, four-year-old honorary for junior women outstanding in campus activities, scholarship, and 'personality'. This unregation of sixteen busy co-eds kept left on the front page with a phenomenal left for enterprise and a mania for thing precidents. Just for the record lench. Young's "blue sweater girls" entered Hi-Jinx for the first time this year and walked off with first prize, later delighted a mixed audience with a revised version of the Mortar Board satire in Detember's Victory Show, did manual labor for Bruin Breakfast Club, the Victory Dance, the Trojan and Rose Bowl games, and continued campus project-promoting by turning the first earth for and tending the Bruin Victory Garden in May.

"Winning their Spurs" is the ambition of all activity-minded Freshman women, who work diligently in committee rooms and A.S.U.C. offices, awaiting that day in May when the cry of "Spurs calling" echoes through houses and dorms, and deserving co-eds are tapped for the sophomore honorary. As a bonafide second-year collegiene, a Spur's calendar is crowded, doing Amazon police duty at Hi Jinx, ushering and setting up cards at football games, pushing the Concert Series sales campaign and various campus drives. Beverly Beust held the reins at Monday meetings this year.

Onterpraternity

COUNCIL

Interfraternity Council, traditionally the most sensible and quiet functioning body on campus, continued this year to play its typed role. Directed by Phi Gam Nick Angeles during the fall semester, the council was faced with the necessity of revising rushing and pledging rules to keep in line with the rapidly changing times. In spite of adverse conditions a record number of new pledges were taken. The spring semester found Beta Theta Pi, Bob Joe Thomas of Claw fame. taking over the presidential reins. Generous contributions to the Dan Brown and Deming Maclise scholarship funds were made by the council from profits earned on the Interfraternity Ball which was held at the Riviera Country Club. Christmas again found each house inviting two or three children from the Sawtelle district to be their quests at dinner. The very popular custom of having a minister, priest, or rabbi each year as guest speaker in the fraternity houses was again carried with even more success than usual. As the school year nears finis so approaches the army and navy occupation of fraternity facilities for the housing of cadets who will train at U.C.L.A. The council long ago went on record as offering fraternity houses to the armed forces as an aid in the war effort.

INTERFRATERNITY

In friendly informolity, these Greeks, including Jean Steiner, Pi Phi, relaxed in a little group on the floor.

S.A.E. Jack Lovell and Marilyn Moon, Phi Mu, hold up one end of the conversation, while Bertha Kelly, lovely Alpha Chi, holds up another ot the Riviero Country Club edition of traditional Intertraternity Ball.

Leon Cooper, Z.B.T., and War Board Chairman Number Three, was the only one in this picture who seemed aware of the Southern Campus photog. He looks worried.

Norv LaYene, Kappa Sig, was first in line for Jo Anne Hollister's wrap. Many prominent fraternity men less "forehanded" may be spotted in the line.

Highlight of the fall social season is the Interfraternity Ball. This year under the guidance of Barney Atchison, the score of U.C.L.A. houses fired a final salute to an old tradition of tuxedoes and rustling formals. Annually an occasion when Hilgard lassies are "wined and dined" in the most formal fraternal style . . . this year's ball reflected the war situation with dinner deleted and many parties preceded the evening's get-together.

A turn or two around the floor and we spot "dreaming" Alpha Phi Phyllis Almquist; Masser, Phi Kap, with Beverly Douglos, K.A.T.; Ginny Wood, Pi Phi, with an impish grin on her face; Ray Slaney to the left with enough space for a Rhumba; and, looking a little scared, Frances Jamison, Chi Omega.

PHIL HUTCHINS . . . Delta Tau Delta and Executive Secretary . . . efficient and well liked . . . leader of the Interfraternity Affairs office.

The fraternity was founded at U.C.L.A. in 1928. A Beta chapter has since been established on the Berkeley campus of the University, and plans are being made for the organization to go national. The founding of Alpha Gamma Omega had as its purpose the bringing together of young men interested in Christian activities. Much suffering A.G.O.'s, "good" neighbors of the long time party boys of Kappa Sigma, remain aloof from the noisy throng in the comparative quietude of their one flight walk-up Strathmore Ave. penthouse.

All the members are prominently active in church and young people's work. Well known campus personalities are starred on athletic rosters. Kenny Boyd, chosen captain of the varsity track team is also deserving of fame for his fine performance in the 440 and 880 yard runs. Mode Perry, also prominent varsity track man, turns in his starring work as member of the cross country team, where he is acclaimed as one of the most outstanding performers. Kermit Gryde, president of the fraternity this year, is one of the navy blues boys, who has become well known in Naval R.O.T.C. circles.

Alpha Sigma Phi is the fraternity famed for such things as all campus parties, great athletes, and a sports editor. Famous bi-yearly party is the Alpha Sig beachcombers dance to which everyone and anyone is invited. Sparkling member of the basketball team is Mickey Panovich, who added to his fame along other lines by contributing to the musical talent of the Junior Jubilee in his Junior year. The mighty mite, Eddie Tyler, placed the name of Alpha Sig in a prominent position on the football roster for 1943. Bob Wilcox, as sports editor of the Daily Bruin covered one of U.C.L.A.'s best athletic years in an outstanding fashion. Homer Newman is another member of Alpha Sig who has done credit to his fraternity in his work on the Senior class council.

Alpha Sig retains the distinction of being the first fraternity to build a house on campus.

Alpha Tau Omega

The A.T.O.'s this year withdrew to a charming recluse in a duplex at the top of an inaccessible hill. Living in the apartment under the roisterous Zetes might have caused lesser men to become enemies, but the boys stood it well, and even drew up an eating club arrangement with their neighbors.

Joe Luder, one of the best of the "power" politicos, managed to stay around campus in his last year, even though at times not officially enrolled. Bob "Peanuts" Wolcott, one time leader of Bruin Breakfast Club, resigned his job under pressure of studies and social life, but adds fame to A.T.O. by being one of the best known and best liked men from Kerckhoff Hall. President of the house Ted Peters, is also a member of the Organizations Control Board. One of their alumni best known to U.C.L.A. students is Dean Noble of the College of Business Administration.

Alpha Tau Omega was founded nationally in 1865, at the close of the Civil War, and managed to expand in the Northern states shortly thereafter in spite of a hostile feeling in the North against Southern groups. A.T.O. was established on this campus in 1926. Social events for the year have included a series of small intimate party-times.

Chi

Phi

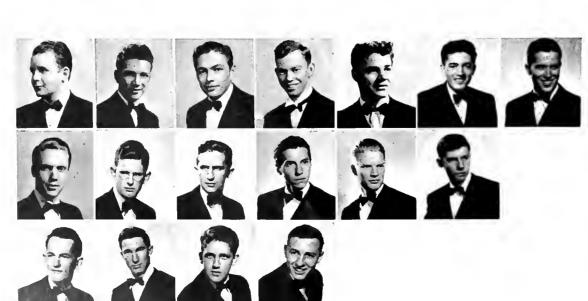

Chi Phi's are men with cars who can afford to reside in a "swonky joint" not too far up Sepulvedo.

Chi Phi boys invite the University public for party time at their secluded rancho home several times each year—to which any and all enthusiastically respond, which makes for a party which is bound to be good.

This year they found that rushing talk on fresh air, the beauties of nature, and seclusion from the mobs isn't as good as it used to be. They had to promise all the lads a bicycle apiece.

The Chi Phi's are the boys who have an "in" with Crew — from the managerial standpoint. They also hire all the men out to sororities as hashers; after all, they'd have to have two hours for lunch to get up Sepulveda and back.

Bill Deardorf upheld the Chi Phi name in politics and activities, being a Crew manager, member of the Daily Bruin staff, and big gun in charge of publicity for the 1942 Homecoming. With the rest of the good boys Bill left for the army.

The Dekes are the men with the sprawling, southern style mansion, located way down South of the University. One of the best locations for big brawls and noisy parties, the Deke house sees many such affairs. For example it has been made the official Phi Phi office and party grounds. Dekes have long had a reputation as social boys and allow themselves to be seen only in the best circles.

Sandy Cameron was the last of the well known Deke politicians, who managed to be represented in everything that was doing on campus. However, such men as James Evans, Jim Isaacs, Doug Gossetz, and Herb Warren keep Deke in the public eye. Doug Luidlaw is a member who has worked hard and consistently for his class as a member of class councils.

The Dekes turned aut en masse for the Kappa-figi. "Free Gassett" with Beverly Newman and smiling (again) Irene Spenseley and Beverly Cawston with some other Delta Kappa Epsilans.

Best known as social boys, from way back, the Delta Tau Deltas can also lay claim to prominent representation in the other extra curricular activities. They nearly managed a majority on the varsity basketball squad, with Jack Baddeley, Ainsley Bell, and Captain John Fryer winning laurels for their outstanding play. Bill Hardin won at least a great deal of publicity for himself, when he took over the All-U-Sing chairmanship. Well liked Dick Horton was elected president of the University's Cal Club. Another Delt well known in athletic circles is George Phillips, football player who played in the Rose Bowl. Jim House finally gained the inside track in politics and was appointed to the long vacated post of Representative at-large on the Student Executive Council.

While the Delts try to minimize their nickname of the Down Town Drunks, they always manage to throw several of the most outstanding parties on Fraternity row each semester.

Phi Delts went a bit hogwild this year with their traditional after finals "hog wallows", to the extent that they opened their doors on the slightest provocation, and went on social pro likewise.

Firmly established at last in Gayley's newest addition, the Phi Delts set out to make a name for themselves in the athletic department by grabbing off a quorum of the yell leaders. Bill Randall added looks and vitality to the group while Doug Kinsey took over the head arm waving job when Hallberg went the way of all E.R.C. men. Contributing a bit more obviously to the athletic fame of the Phi Delt name was George Robotham, football end. A leader in the khaki uniformed R.O.T.C. boys was Hugh Geyer, as well as being an outstanding member of Cal Club. Denny McCarthy put his oar into campus politics with the Frosh class presidency.

Truly imbued with the fraternal spirit, all Fiji's are convinced that the boys are "the salt of the earth". Dubiously proud of student body president Billy Farrer, the house also named among its membership such campus personalities and B.M.O.C.'s as Bill Cain, Ben Shepherd, and Nick Angeles; and also were forced to admit that they knew Lionel "Butch" Lebel on several occasions. Keeping up all the fine old prewar traditions, Fijis gave their usual share of suave parties, and graced the better social functions of the year with their inimitable charm. Although lacking the old quard names such as Hank McCune, Tommy Thompson, and others, the Phi Gams nevertheless kept in the campus know, and came out of the foray with a sizeable and presentable pledge class each semester. Cain, as Prom Chairman, found himself in the midst of much discussion as to the function's war-time significance, but put on an affair meeting with the approval of one and all. A good house.

Phi Kappa Psi

The Phi Psi's overcame the ravages of the E.R.C. call and donations to the air forces by coming up with an impressive number of nuggets, who, as is the Phi Psi custom, were presented in true sorority fashion. Numbered among those who succumbed to the Air Corp's wiles was Dick Woodard, house president, member of Cal Club, and another of those who just had to leave his pin behind. With the E.R.C. went Bill O'Brien, elongated basketball player who in one game dropped through thirty points; accompanied by George Hallberg, head yell leader, and character in general.

Left to hold up the activity side of the house is Bill Stimmel, Soph class Prexy, and a shining new member of Cal Club.

Slap-happy fun boys like Hallberg, Woodard and Janeway provided adequate leadership. Sophomore satelite, Bill Stimmel was a political plum unnaticed by his brothers. 613 Gayley SAE's planted their pins in many of the best houses. Haunted Hilgard and played hide-and-ga-seek with rumors about leasing their white mansian to the army.

Seen having a good time at the White Christmas party were Joe Walt, Katherine Walbridge, Sally McSpadden, Bud Pierson, and Pat Bunker.

These "Early Americans" turned out at the Paisano party: Jack Lovell, Marlynn Moon, Ed Breeding, Jean Spratlen, Burr Baldwin, Bev Sinclair and Herb Fleming.

The mainstay of the military department was, this year, as always the Sigma Nu house, however the misguided half which failed to enroll in R.O. were swept away in sundry army calls, notably depleting the ranks.

Their annual White Rose party managed to be even more successful than usual, if the size of the crowd is any criteria, with a plentiful supply of refreshments and white roses for all.

Outstanding men from the house include "Big" Bill Frizzell, of obstical course fame, and two of the very best of football players, Al Solari and Jim Dougherty.

Tap males on the campus receive bids to the White Rose, famed yearly Sigma Nu splurge. A few present are Penny Williams, Theta Delt; Gearge Metzger, Sigma Pi; Bud Baldwin, Phi Psi; De Mar Davis, Phi Kap . . . and so dawn the row.

Sigma Alpha Mu

The brothers are affectionately known as Sammies with their reputation for strong co-operation well established. As editor of the publication Bob Freedman has earned a reputation for his bi-monthly news letter to alumni called by Uncle Sammy. The letters contain news of chapter activities, actives, pledges, and alums. Sigma Alpha Mu is represented on the Campus Theater Board by Bill Levine, student head, and Bob Niesevitch. All hands turn out for the fall Chinese Party, the outstanding social event. Bright spot on the chapter record is its financial relations with the Interfraternity Council—a debit balance. Orville Kelman and Lenny Goodman served as house presidents.

Tau Delta Phi

Tau Delta Phi's joined the Greek forces on the local campus back in 1928 when the University, as such, was beginning to take form. Since that time the brothers have been on hand to help mold tradition and growth of student and academic activities.

Leading the forces this year, we find Maurice Hymen, and Stan Geller, whose Naval Academy father is serving as a captain in the service. Lloyd Arkin will go down in Tau Delt history as the man to handle finances, because of his house managing ability.

Besides celebration of their annual Christmas formal, hayride, blackout and beachcomber parties, the Tau Delts make a point of real commemoration of their founder's day, July 16.

Plaqued by Uncle Sam's insistence that its house officers be called to duty first, Theta Xi developed a well oiled house election system. Capably handling the presidential duties in the fall semester was Bob Starkey, editor of the Fraternity Front and outstanding sports editor on the Southern Campus. Jerry Bunker took over the top seat at half time, working diligently and efficiently. Zeta Beta Tau Although seriously weakened numerically, Alpha Rho of Zeta Beta Tau will finish her second war year strong. As proud of her showing on campus is the chapter of her men in the service. For the most part, the difference in membership between October, 1942 (55 actives and 8 pledges) and March, 1943 (19 actives and 6 pledges) is now serving in the various armed forces.

On the campus ZBT finished high in both interfraternity scholarship and athletics. Prominent in intercollegiate competition are Dore Schwab, captain of the swimming team and P.C.C. 50 yard and 100 yard champ, Norbert Aurbach, swimming and water polo, and Bob Feldman, soccer.

In activities on campus are Dore Schwab, president of Circle C; Bob Weil, retiring editor of the Daily Bruin, Phi Beta Kappa, Cal Club; Frank Wolf, outgoing Forensics Board Chairman; Leon Cooper, War Board Chairman, Cal Club; and Ed Sanders, Student Board of the University Religious Conference.

ZBT will finish out this spring semester in traditional style and to continue fraternal relationships at U.C.L.A. as long as any brother is left on campus.

Zeta Beta Tou parties attract attention to the bar where we find H. Landson, Marge Kessler, Helga Auerbach, Stan Gottlieb, Lorry Aides, Shirley Wilder, Ed Rowenstiel, and Mike Aiches.

Zeta Psi

Zeta Psis, the boys who brag long and loud about being so exclusive that they pledge but one man a semester, commonly termed "the nugget". The original party boys, their claims to fame lie solely in athletics and social life, but what could be better. On the athletic side Vic Smith was a starring member of the 1942 football aggregation, and did more than his share in sending U.C.L.A. to the Rose Bowl.

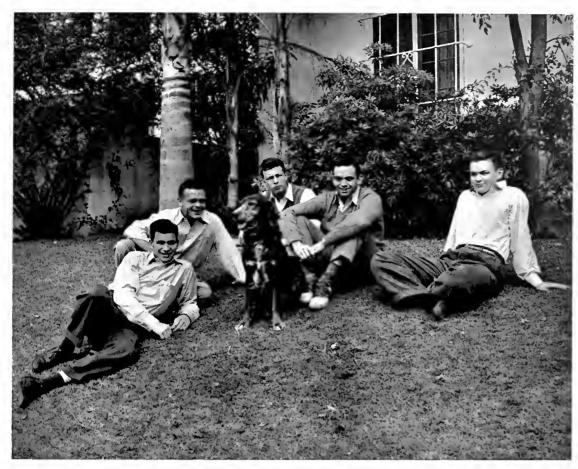

Prominent socialites of the house are such men as Bob Arthur, Herb Evans, Mike Richardson, Frank Buckley and Marshall Cleland. Marsh brings further fame to the Zetes by being one of the mainstays to U.C.L.A.'s Varsity Crew.

The Zetes gave their parties in an apartment over the A.T.O.'s, and took their meals, in rapid succession with neighbor A.T.O.'s, Kappa Sigs, and finally settled for the Phi Delts.

The Zetes are to be found always together and one of the most exclusive and solid groups of men on the campus.

Headed this year by Betty Tomberlin, first semester, and Patty Lou Dunn, second semester, Kappa Deltas, the U.C.L.A. Pan Hellenic Council guided its member sororities in a wartime program. The presidency of the group rotates each year from house to house. New rushing regulations this year streamlined rush week procedure and proved very workable. Social restrictions on the houses stressed simplicity and inexpensive social affairs, exchange dinners were changed to desserts and formal dances were abandoned.

The sororities' war work was coordinated through this governing body, and impetus was given to their cooperation with the campus War Board program.

Red Cross, blood donations, first aid classes, volunteer work, and the entertainment of service men were taken over by the sororities enthusiastically. All of the houses gave generously in the campus drives for war funds, and many individually helped in the support of a War Relief group.

To encourage even a greater friendliness among sorority women, Neophyte council, made up of sorority and dormitory pledges was continued; and a series of exchange luncheons and dinners between sororities was held.

The Pan Hellenic dance, the all sorority social event, was held at the Biltmore Hotel and was, for the first time, an informal dance.

Peppy Alpha Chi's liven up any campus gathering. Good parties make them rate high with the rest of the campus. Enthusiastic bunch.

First with the latest, the Alpha Chis are certain to be seen at the very best of shin-digs. Besides having the reputation of being the best dates on campus, such girls as Peggy Lee Robertson, Barbara Levitt, and Barbara Maltby see to it that the house gets more than its share of pins. Alpha Chis glory in practical jokes, one of which led to the famous trial of who put the crackers in the house-mother's bed. Seems as though Bennett and Bedell were convicted. Thirty-nine steps to the open door of ADPi, hospitable sorority which boasts the best vista on Hilgard. Famously friendly, the members of Alpha Delta Pi are lusty rooters at football games and cooperative supporters of A.S.-U.C.L.A. functions. A chapter of the first secret sisterhood of college women, Alpha Delta Pi is firmly rooted in the U.C.L.A. Pan Hellenic organization and well established on this campus.

Noteworthy ADPi's include Millie Partridge, Hi-Jinx expert and A.W.S. Vice-President, Barbara Negley, Social Service Council worker, and Barbara Sherman, former V.P. of the Class of '44. A heritage of activity leadership passes each year to Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. At the front in many activities, participation in all the phases of university life is a legacy which is found in every pledge class. Guided this year by their poised president, Ursula Kahle, the Alpha Gams rounded off the year with a roster of pledges and fraternity pins. Pretty Homecoming Queen Peggie Rich accumulated more than her share of honors by serving as Secretary to her class and making Cal Club. Helen Leahy, Key and Scroll member and A.W.S. leader, worked hard training freshmen to be good Spur timber. Alpha Gamma Delta songsters make the rafters of their spacious house ring with the lilting lyrics of their own and other fraternity songs.

Alpha Omicron Pi

Traditionally associated with their Annual Rose Party, A O Pi's have built up a reputation for successful social events. Activity girls at heart, Alpha Omicron Pi is represented well in the majority of campus corners . . . from the "Y" to far off KH 304. IGuess where that is.1 Well known Seniors include pretty Deliene Jensen, remembered always for her distinctive giggle, and a fellow Spur and Key and Scroll member, Hitty Brininger, who now breathes the air of Phi Beta Kappas. Socially minded Barbara Snow and Mary Jane Daze put their efforts behind many worthy causes this year and "prodded the pledges" on occasion. Mary Rawlings gets a star for being super-dependable.

A O Pi's are hard to type . . . One Phi Beta Kappa and not a few party girls . . . individualists range in between . . . sweet dispositions.

At the AOPi Bowery Porty, surrounded by clever signs and checker-clothed tobles, Eleanor Hanawalt, Virginia Pinkus, Murray Roberts, Phi Sig from S.C., Phyllis White, and numerous others eagerly sample pretzels and sandwiches.

Engaging in a little harmonizing at the A.O.Pi Bowery Party are Jo Ann Anderson, Pat Davis, Eleanor Hanawolt, Phyllis White, Marjorie Kennedy, Mary Wilson, and Phyllis Murdock. Among the male contingent are Murray Roberts and Hugh Becker.

Pledged in the fall were Jo Ann Anderson, Phyllis IPaml Murdock, trom New Orleans, Patricio Davis, Hallie Ligocki, Virginia Pinkus, and Ruth Omey. A gay crowd viewed them at Presents, and enjoyed punch and cookies in the patio.

Alpha Phi

Famous for Fun House parties and water fights with the Thetas, the most spontaneous bunch of Hilgard lassies that ever assembled under one roof. Maintains a quota of members in Tic Toc, Guidon and Shell and Oar. Socially minded, most Alpha Phis wear two pins and are seen in the best places with the best people. Senior Satelites include Audrey Hughes, Anne Gillespie and Prexy Mary Ward. Junior Omnipotents with futures are Key and Scrollers Margaret MacHaffie, Dorothy Rayburn and Jane Wallerstedt, to say nothing of Southern Campus' pride Alvira McCarthy. Spur President Beverly Beust provided an inspiration for the peppy and ambitious Alpha Phi pledges and newcomers Dodie Gillespie and Siegie Henrich received double plus scorings as pledges with promise.

The end of a long pledge line catches Dodie Gillespie, Sieglind Henrich, Phyl Kerr, Phyl Hall, and Peggy Patterson. Jack Lovell seems impressed.

Trying a hand at domestic life, we find Dan Lee, Delta Sig, and Jane Wallerstedt vith Barbara Wright and Chuck Woodard, Fiji.

Red-headed Nancy Russell and Alden Pierce, Sigma Nu, along with Reese (youall) Fredrickson and Bob Randall, Kappa Sigma, enjoy the Haufbrau Pledge dance. Reese as social chairman and pledge sponsor, showed both pledges and Uclans a bit about Southern hospitality.

Alpha Xi Delta pledges line up to meet the University Public. Smiling for the cameramen the active and well-liked fall class did credit to their sorority and monaged to get into not a few Kerckhoff activities. In February these girls came into their own and received the Alpha Xi golden quill which distinguishes them in the libe and on Royce steps.

Alpha Xi Delta

Founded at Lombard University in Galesburg, Illinois, Alpha Xi Delta has grown until now it is proud to boast 55 chapters on its membership scroll. With aid to needy students as its guiding principle, it is responsible for the college educations of many deserving people. The U.C.L.A. chapter was organized in 1924. As one of its functions the sorority supports several scholarship funds such as the Founder's Memorial Scholarship Fund and the Grace Ferris Memorial Scholarship Fund. The local chapter also presents an honor scholarship to the member who has shown the greatest achievements in scholarship, leadership and has contributed greatest to the general welfare of the sorority. This year as it has in preceding years, the house has been well represented in the political machine on campus. Virginia Wellons, who was the recipient of the scholarship award, was elected to the high post of president of the Associated Women Students. Mary Dant, one of the socialites of the group served very capably on the Prom committee and was elected secretary of the Senior class in the Spring elections. Doris Burns achieved more recognition for the sorority when she acted as junior attendant to the Homecoming Queen. Their social season was highlighted by the annual Rose Ball, pledge dance, Sigma Alpha Epsilon exchange luncheon and a Founder's Day banquet to commemorate the fiftieth birthday of the organization. They also participate in campus war work.

Good ideas and imagination have made Delta Zeta parties successful and long remembered. These girls have concentrated on war work this year.

Delta Zeta sorority has always been a politically minded group of girls. When not running for offices themselves they spend their time supporting a favored candidate. Bonny Bobb, one of the most active of the Junior class, worked hard on all class council activities. Another activity minded Delta Zeta is Rose Koumjian, a member of Spurs. A good social house, they partied at exchange dinners nearly every Wednesday. Favored fraternity seemed to be the Lambda Chis.

Marilyn Moon has brought fame to the Phi Mu's by being secretary of the Senior Class, after three years of varied activities in the Student Body. She also garnered an S.A.E. pin on the way up. Wearer of the Spur is Jean Lapp. Pat Talley was seen everywhere and Marian Kunkle was activity minded.

Sigma Kappas make good committee women ... each one takes a healthy interest in campus activities and is noticeably loyal to her sorority.

Featuring serious minded activity girls as well as a group of the more frivilous socialites, Sigma Kappa is a well rounded sorority. Orchids for activities go to such girls as Gretchen Burns, a leader in the Y.W.C.A. and active in class councils; Lois Luchsherer, senior class council; Virginia Wood, active in Shell and Oar; and Sue Harding and Margaret Ramsey.

One of the main features of Sigma Kappa this year was their super deluxe pledge class of beauties.

Sigma Kappa has turned all out for war work with service entertainment and Red Cross production taking the fore.

Party time in the Sigma Kappa fashion—fun for all.

Porties this year reflected a military theme, with lots of uniforms in evidence.

Theta Phi Alpha

Organized for the purpose of bringing together Catholic women of the University in a social sorority, Theta Phi Alpha this year moved from its castle-like house on Hilgard to a cottage-like home on Weyburn. Lead by Pan-Hellenic vice president, Henriette Hodek, the members are active socially and philanthropically on the campus. Many of the members participate in the activities of the Newman Club, Catholic religious group that now has headquarters in the old Theta Phi Alpha house.

This small but very sisterly group is kept in good spirits by girls with personality and pep such as Kathleen Meldeen and Mary Harper.

Theta Phi Alpha moved off the row to make room for the much appreciated Newman Club house. Members of this house are closely associated with the Newman Club.

Theta Phi Alphas gather between classes in their usual spot in front of Royce.

The photographer lured these girls from their usual ten o'clock coke to pose on the steps near Royce.

Zeta Tau Alpha

The members of Zeta Tau Alpha have really devoted their energies this past year in planning party-times for the meteorology students on the campus. What with open houses and dances in their honor, the ZTA's have not only made a worthwhile contribution to the hospitality work of the university, but have also shown the busy air cadets what U.C.L.A. social life is like.

The Zeta sorority combines a group of girls who are activity, socially and scholastically minded and who excel in all three fields. Orchids go to girls like Irene Galvin, Elsa Edwards and Ella Cather.

Zetas this year mixed with their sisters on the S.C. campus and promoted friendships in this direction. A large pledge class in February made the spring semester a merry one.

720 Hilgard

ZTA's are the outdoor girls of Hilgard row. Fond of athletic participation. Good parties highlight their social year.

Military unitarms first appeared an campus at the gala Pan-Hellenic presentation and air carps cadets were first and foremast on the spot at many up and down the raw. Here a cadet begins the long routine at introductions at the Zeta present line.

Gathered oraund the piana Z.T.A.'s jain in a familiar traternity lyric. Ello Cather sings forth and same at the sisters harmonize. Like all sorority girls, the Zetas lave to play cards. A tew bridge fiends dominate the scene usually but once in a while the ranks open la hearts and a tew kibitzers.

Phi Sigma Sigma girls stretched Hilgard another block. Live luxuriously close to the Village . . . but gas rationing made getting to campus a strain.

Organized as a non-sectarian philanthropic sorority, Phi Sigma Sigma has achieved much success by doing an excessive amount of charity work for all persons in need regardless of creed or sect. The organization was founded at Hunter College and has expanded until now there are twenty-six chapters scattered among the leading universities of the country. Evey year they contribute to the National Jewish Fund and the Student Refugee Fund in addition to assisting various local agencies in the East. Among the many occasions honored is Founder's Day, which is commemorated each year by the reading of the founder's creed in the various chapter houses. Zeta chapter was the first national corority to organize on the U.C.L.A. campus. As a main portion of their program, they have aided in the support of the Julia Ann Singer Nursery and the United Welfare Fund. Joyce Davidson, sophomore class secretary, and Ann Bretzfelder, a popular Spur have seen to it that the Phi Sigs are well represented in campus organizations. Scholars all, the sorority won the scholarship cup for maintaining the highest average among the sororities. On the social program they have the annual Charity Ball, Patroness Teas, and Mother's and Father's affairs. Like many other campus living groups they have contributed to Red Cross work, given numerous U.S.O. affairs, and participated in other war activities.

a varied program. There are teas and a fireside chat for new members, an informal barn dance, and a funhouse party. Officers are elected from the whole Phrateres membership, and are installed yearly in the Spring. The Phrateres cabinet was founded in 1929.

Newman

Newman Club

Named in honor of Cardinal Newman of Oxford, the Newman Club's purpose is to harmonize the truth of Religion, Science, and Philosophy, and to give its members spiritual, mental and social companionship on the campus. Sponsoring supplementary lectures in Religious and Ethical problems of the day, the club also has a well rounded program of social and athletic activities. Its chapel, library, and club rooms are open daily to the university public.

Dr. Robert G. Sproul recognizes the need for religious clubs at U.C.L.A. in these words: "Without religion man must substitute weak convictions for permanent values and abiding standards; without religion, civilization, lacking reinforcement for the strains that inevitably come upon it must yield to decay and disintegration."

Already that work is helping us to stimulate in our students a sensitiveness to the abiding values of religion without which they might well become like the highly trained Nazis, a danger rather than a benefit to mankind.

Benevolent Father Bowling, belaved leader of the Newman Club activities has given much in leadership and consultation with members of the group.

Religious Conference

Adjacent to the campus is an organization interested in furthering the ideals and traditions of democracy. It is known formally as the University Religious Conference, and after association, usually as The Conference. It is a corporation chartered under the laws of the State of California, and has been in existence since 1928.

Linking the University Religious Conference to student activities is a Student Board made up of organization and non-organization men and women from the junior and senior classes. They supervise and finance University Camp, assist in Religious Emphasis Week, and promote the trialogues.

The interfaith Cabinet of the Conference is the group which coordinates the activities of all the denominational clubs which are a part of the religious activities at the campus and are the divisions of the Conference: the clubs for the Catholics, Episcopalians, Jews, Methodists, Presbyterians, Baptists, Congregationalists, Christians, Quakers, Unitarians, Mormons, Lutherans, and the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A.

) EFORE LEAVING BUNDY'S TONIGHT, I must put down in writing words that can only inadequately express the true appreciation I have for all of the members of the 1943 SOUTHERN CAMPUS STAFF. Each one of you has worked unselfishly to produce this volume and each one has done a job of which he and U.C.L.A. may be proud, and for which I am grateful, individually and collectively.

Al, you never knew my staff, but each one knows by heart the layouts you "dreamed up" for us in August, and your wonderful Division Pages are favorites of us all.

Thelner, you first, because you were indispensable and so sympathetic. Your top-notch staff was a gift to the book that was truly of your own making. Thanks Jean, Jack, Stan and Dick.

Dodie and Jean-the second semester was not as happy without both. Thank you for all the marvelous freshmen you started on the vay to Spurs. I hope you come back someday and take up where you left off.

Bessie, you were a prop all year. A really top-notch senior and thank you for Mary and Alvira; they are going to prove what a good editor you were.

Hellen, you were my own special protege. You had the hardest job of all. I hope you carry on as well next year. I know you will.

Gloria and Jo Anne, your sections are still wet on the press and I am sure that I don't have to tell you what fine jobs you did. The sections speak for themselves. I know I hounded you both—but I appreciate the way you came through. Ursula, too, was an ever present help.

Starkey, your section beats them all. You hit every deadline and your "book" is proof of one of U.C.L.A.'s best sportsmen. Tom Boyd and Bill Meyer, both of you have my thanks for all your good spirit and comradely co-operation.

Rod-your cover is one of the newest aspects of the book. You, like Al and Starkey and Herb and Tom, are already on your way, but Southern Campus leaves a standing invitation to come back any time. Bill and Bonnie and my unknown Theta Xi lettering expert were all artistic implements we couldn't get along without.

Bea and Seigy, and Kunkel, too. You all made the going smoother. Barbara Sheriff and Anita, I'm depending on you to prove your worth to Alvira. Marcia, Barbara Ryan, Tillie, Marilyn, Carol Mae, Rose, Wolf, Margery, Midge, Frances—I could go on forever because all of you helped so much. The book is almost ready—thank you for it, because it belongs to you.

Phil and Herb and Jane-my good friends and fellow conspirators. Phil, I thought fate had meant you for editor. Despite all your responsibilities, you were just as indispensable as the rest of the staff. kept our spirits up. Jane, thanks for "all the in-between-times" as well as for the rest. Good luck next year in both your jobs. Herb—you financial genius, it's hardest to thank you of all—because I don't think you or your staff ever realized how priceless it was-how dependable and how co-operative. Dick and Berch and Ginny and Pat and Mary Margaretall top-notchers and hard workers. Herb, you inspired my staff meetings and provided a lift at every turn. Happy landings and good luck in everything.

To Alvira, who has THE job next year, all my best wishes for success and a cooperative staff like '43.

To Marie Dashiell, grateful appreciation for all that she taught me and for all the inspiration she has been to me.

YEARBOOK is a business project—it has to be in order that it may continue to be published year after year—and it is the duty of the Managerial Department to see to it that the book prospers financially. But more than that, a yearbook is an institution which records in pictures and words the history of a University, and the Managerial Department is a team which functions to bring this volume of memories to the students.

Probably never before in the history of yearbook publications at U.C.L.A. has there been such a tremendous turnover in the personnel of the staffs. But knowing the reason for this to be that men were constantly being called to active service in the U.S. forces, no one kicked or complained about the added work which was left for him to do. During the ten months the book was in publication, of the seven key positions in the department two were headed by three different people at various times, four were headed by two different people, and only one position remained the same throughout the year. I offer these facts not as an excuse by any means, but merely to emphasize the remarkable work accomplished by the staff under such interrupted and trying conditions.

When we started out last August the whole task looked pretty perplexing. Then we figured out just what had to be done, when it had to be done, and who was going to do it. However, all didn't turn out just as it was planned. We faced many new problems in addition to those caused by the War, which all of you well know. But the big thing remains that we not only got the job done on time, but got the job done right. Without the undying cooperation and hard work by you members of the staff, this would never have been accomplished. During a time when other universities were halting yearbook publications altogether or postponing their deadlines for several months, you on the Southern Campus stood by your posts or carried on in fine style in place of those who were forced to leave.

All of you well deserve credit: Bob helped to start the fur flying way back in the summer session, and Jane was selling books when I was still on my vacation. Mary Margaret kept after me for more publicity until half of the seniors in school came up to 309. Berch almost doubled the amount called for in the Organizations budget, and without the steady help of Pat this would have been impossible. Glen left things in good shape for Chuck, who really kept the ball rolling until the Advertising section turned out better than my highest expectations. Carmen was always on the job when something tough had to be done. Dick came through with a swell job in a new and different type of work. As well as spending many hours in the office, Ginnie was a constant inspiration. Without Barbara to straighten us out we would have all been lost many times.

My special thanks to Jane who carried on as Manager after the Navy found other things to occupy my spare moments, and most of all to Margret who, more than anyone else, is responsible for this 1943 edition. She was the heart of the whole enterprise.

It has been a pleasure working with all of you. Thanks for a job well done.

BUILDERS OF THE BOOK

I T IS DIFFICULT to put into words appreciation for the work done by the "Builders of the Book," those men and women who have generously given of their experience and ability to make the Southern Campus a tangible reality to the students of the University of California.

For those of us who have been on the staff, Mr. Jessup and Waldo and Norma are fellow workers whom we have grown to know well and to respect for their skill and kindly consultation. To them, all our thanks and appreciation for jobs well done and conscientiously.

Others, too, have helped us. Mr. W. C. Ackerman, Mr. T. D. Stanford, Mr. A. J. Sturzenegger, Mr. Ralph Freud, Mr. Herb Dallinger, Barbara Steffen and Jo Anne Grimes.

Especial thanks to Miss Murray, in the Amos Carr Lab, Mr. Preter in the Mission plant, and to our true benefactor, Mrs. Ruth Gray, at Bundy's, who really showed us how to get the book out.
